Special to The New York Times.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., June 13.—The University of Michigan's new $2,000,000 Lawyers' Club, gift of William W. Cook of New York City, was dedicated here this afternoon, Dean Henry M. Bates of the Michigan Law School formally accepting the building.

John T. Creighton of New York read the letter of presentation from Mr. Cook, in which the latter expressed the desire that the University of Michigan might become the great centre of legal education and jurisprudence. Mr. Cook recommended a new law library building, two more law dormitories and a new law school building.

"America is still in the making," he wrote, "but in the domain of law is no longer dependent on England. On the contrary, it is working out a jurisprudence of its own."

Dean Roscoe Pound of the Harvard Law School, who has been mentioned as a possible new President of the university, spoke on the "Professional Tradition and the Law School."

Dean James P. Hall of the University of Chicago Law School spoke as representing the colleges of the Middle West.

John M. Zane, a graduate of the University of Michigan and a prominent Chicago lawyer, also spoke, representing the bar.

Sailing on Veendam, Says Holland Stands With Powers on China.

Holland, as one of the parties to the Seven Power Treaty signed at Washington in 1922 guaranteeing the integrity of China, will follow the lead of the great powers in dealing with the situation at Shanghai and other treaty ports. Jonkheer Dr. A. C. D. de Graef, Minister of the Netherlands at Washington, said yesterday.

Jonkheer de Graef sailed for Rotterdam on the Holland-American liner Veendam, from the foot of Fifth Street, Hoboken, yesterday morning, for a three months' vacation in Holland. He was accompanied by Mme. de Graef and his two sons and two daughters.

"Of course," said the Minister, "I have no official knowledge of the policy of my Government regarding China, which is a matter for the Minister for Foreign Affairs to decide, but I think that I may safely say that Holland will take concerted action with the other treaty powers, if any action is contemplated toward China."

Another traveler on the Veendam was G. P. Luden, Vice Consul of the Netherlands at New York.

A large party of eye, ear, nose and throat specialists from different cities of the United States sailed to take a nine weeks' intensive course at the School of Medicine of the University of Vienna.
