RESEARCH RESOURCES

Lexis, Westlaw, and Bloomberg

Access to Lexis, Westlaw, and Bloomberg is provided to law faculty, including adjuncts and visiting professors during semesters they are teaching in the Law School.

For training and passwords for these services, contact Kincaid Brown (647.1529, kcb@umich.edu).

Library Websites, Online Catalogs, and Electronic Journals

The Law Library and other University of Michigan campus libraries provide access to research collections and finding aids in print, microform, and electronic formats.

Access to collections is provided through online catalogs, e-journal lists and webpages:

Webpages and Electronic Resources

The Law Library's website features a specific section designed to meet the research and current awareness needs of the law faculty, including links to electronic research resources, e-journals, blogs, etc. The University Library websites also provide access to hundreds of licensed and free electronic resources, including e-journals, indexes, finding aids, and databases. Direct links to these sites are found at:

- www.law.umich.edu/LIBRARY/FACULTY
(Law Library faculty page)
- searchtools.lib.umich.edu/V?RN=441750958
(University Library search tools page)

Library catalogs:

- Law Library catalog: umil.iii.com
- MIRLYN (University Library system catalog): mirlyn.lib.umich.edu
- Kresge Business Library: <http://lib.bus.umich.edu/search>

E-Journals:

Access to full-text electronic journals via online catalogs (Law Library catalog, MIRLYN, and Kresge Library catalog) is supplemented by alphabetical "E-Journals Lists" of full-text electronic journals and the article linker tool called "Find an Article."
