ALTERNATE QUIET PLACES TO STUDY

If you are not eligible to use the Law Library, or if the Law Library is temporarily noisier than you prefer, here are some alternate quiet study locations on campus.

Michigan Union: On the first floor, there are study rooms on both sides of the main lobby, to your right and left as you enter through the main entrance on State Street. There is also a patio open for study during good weather;

Hours: Monday-Thursday: 7 a.m.- Midnight

Friday and Saturday: 7 a.m. to 2. a.m.

Sunday: 9 a.m. – Midnight

Michigan League: Space in the lobby, and in the courtyard, for study. Basement has food for sale and more space.

Hours: Seven days, 7 a.m. to 11 p.m.

Rackham Building: Open Monday through Friday from 8:00am to 9:00pm the Rackham Building's study halls are considered by many to be "the best place on campus to study." These rooms the most elegant spaces on campus dedicated to graduate student use. If you haven't been lucky enough to experience these rooms yet, come over to the Rackham Building and check them out. There are three rooms: two equipped for computers, and one for totally quiet study. The Study Halls are located on the second floor of Rackham.

The Duderstadt Center on North Campus: Open 24-7 with a huge variety of study spaces, including a library. The basement is quietest.
