

Stavros-Evdokimos Pantazopoulos

Stavros-Evdokimos Pantazopoulos is a PhD candidate in public international law at the European University Institute under the supervision of Professor Nehal Bhuta, and a Michigan Grotius Research Scholar at the University of Michigan Law School. His research focuses on the intersection between international humanitarian law and international environmental law during and after an armed conflict, in the light of present generations' duty to preserve and deliver the environment to future generations in a sustainable condition. Stavros has published in the fields of international environmental law, law of armed conflict, and autonomous weapons systems.

Stavros holds an LLB and an LLM in international law from the University of Athens, an LLM in international law from the London School of Economics, and an LLM in Comparative, European and International Laws from the European University Institute. He is a member of the Athens Bar and of the Hellenic Society of International Law and International Relations. Stavros assisted Professor Jacobsson, member of the International Law Commission, during her tenure as Special Rapporteur for the topic 'Protection of the Environment in Relation to Armed Conflicts' in the 67th session of the International Law Commission. He has been awarded the Academy of Athens Scholarship for post-graduate studies on Public International Law and is currently a scholar of the Greek State Scholarships Foundation and of the Foundation for Education and European Culture.