INMATE GRIEVANCE PROGRAM
ANNUAL REPORT
2003

I. INTRODUCTION

The Inmate Grievance Program (IGP) functions under Departmental Directive #4040 entitled "Inmate Grievance Program" and Departmental Directive #4041 entitled "Inmate Grievance Program Modification Plan" and is established by the statutory mandates of Section 139 NYS Correction Law and N.Y.C.R.R., Title 7, Part 701.

The Inmate Grievance Program provides each inmate an orderly, fair, simple and expeditious method of resolving grievances pursuant to Section 139, NYS Correction Law. This grievance program includes procedures for inmates to resolve allegations of discriminatory treatment in accordance with the State Commission of Correction regulation 9 NYCRR Part 7695. Grievances filed prior to July 7, 1990 were reviewed by the NYS Commission of Correction and responded to by the Commissioner. Correction Law 139 was amended by Chapter 373 of the Laws of 1990 deleting the requirement that the Commission of Correction review individual grievances, yet required the Commission of Correction to review and assess the grievance process on an annual basis. The elimination of the advisory step ensures that the grievance process is more expeditious while at the same time allows the Commission of Correction to provide oversight.

On September 28, 1992, the U. S. Department of Justice, Office of the Associate Attorney General, pursuant to the authority conferred by Title 42, United States Code, Section 1997e and Part 40 of Title 28, Code of Federal Regulations granted full certification that the NYS Department of Correctional Services, Inmate Grievance Program is in substantial compliance with the standards set forth in Part 40 of Title 28, Code of Federal Regulations. Based on this certification, the court may order that prior to litigating claims under 42 U.S.C. Section 1983, New York State inmates shall exhaust any remedies they have with respect to the claim through the Inmate Grievance Program. For the purpose of this order, the disposition of the Central Office Review Committee (CORC) constitutes sufficient proof of exhaustion. In 1996, the federal government passed the Prisoner's Litigation Reform Act (PLRA) which enacted the same requirement for all inmates.

On May 29, 2001, the United States Supreme Court decision in Booth v. Churner required that prisoners exhaust their administrative remedies before bringing damage lawsuits in federal court even if the administrative remedy does not provide damages. Subsequently, on February 26, 2002, the United States Supreme Court decision in Porter v. Nussle held that the exhaustion requirement applies to all inmate suits about prison life, whether they involve general circumstances or particular episodes and whether they allege excessive force or some other wrong. These decisions, along with the PLRA have had an impact on the number of grievances being appealed to CORC. The impact is addressed in Part IV of this report.

II. STATISTICAL ANALYSIS OF IGP WORKLOAD

The number of grievances filed in 2003 was 45,226, an increase from the 44,405 filed in 2002. This is an increase of 821 grievances as compared to the decrease of 1,219 grievances realized last year. However, the trend in the last four years is one of fluctuating from an increase to a decrease each year and vice-versa with a high in 1999 of 45,797 grievances and a low of 41,281 in 2000. The non-calendared inmate contacts continued the decreasing trend with 37,999 in 1999, 36,154 in 2000, 33,833 in 2001, 33,373 in 2002 and 29,130 in 2003. There is a trend by inmates to file a grievance so that the administrative remedies can be exhausted. Thus, the inmates who do file grievances are tending to exhaust the administrative remedy with an appeal to CORC.

This 2003 total of 45,226 represents an increase of 1.85%, while the inmate population decreased by 1.58% from the 67,117 average in 2002 to an average of 66,056 in 2003 (refer to graphs #1 and #2). In 2003, there were 684.66 grievance submissions per one thousand inmates, which is 3.50% more than the 661.52 grievance submissions per one thousand inmates in 2002.

During 2003, IGP field staff recorded approximately 29,130 non-calendared contacts with inmates which clarified issues and/or enabled inmates to resolve problems without the submission of calendared grievances. Non-calendared contacts in 2003 reflect a decrease of 4,243 from the 33,373 non-calendared contacts logged in 2002.

In 2003, there were 5,145 grievances (11.38% of the total filed) informally resolved by the Inmate Grievance Resolution Committee (IGRC). The number of informal resolutions realized by the IGRC in 2003 is less than the 5,271 grievances (11.87% of the total filed) in 2002. This is a decrease of 126 informal resolutions, or a 2.39% decrease (refer to graphs #3 and #4).

There were 31,070 Inmate Grievance Resolution Committee (IGRC) hearings (68.70% of total filed) held statewide in 2003, an increase from the 30,122 hearings (67.83% of total filed) in 2002. This reflects an increase of 948 IGRC hearings. This increase is consistent with the increase in total grievances filed statewide (refer to graphs #5 and #6).

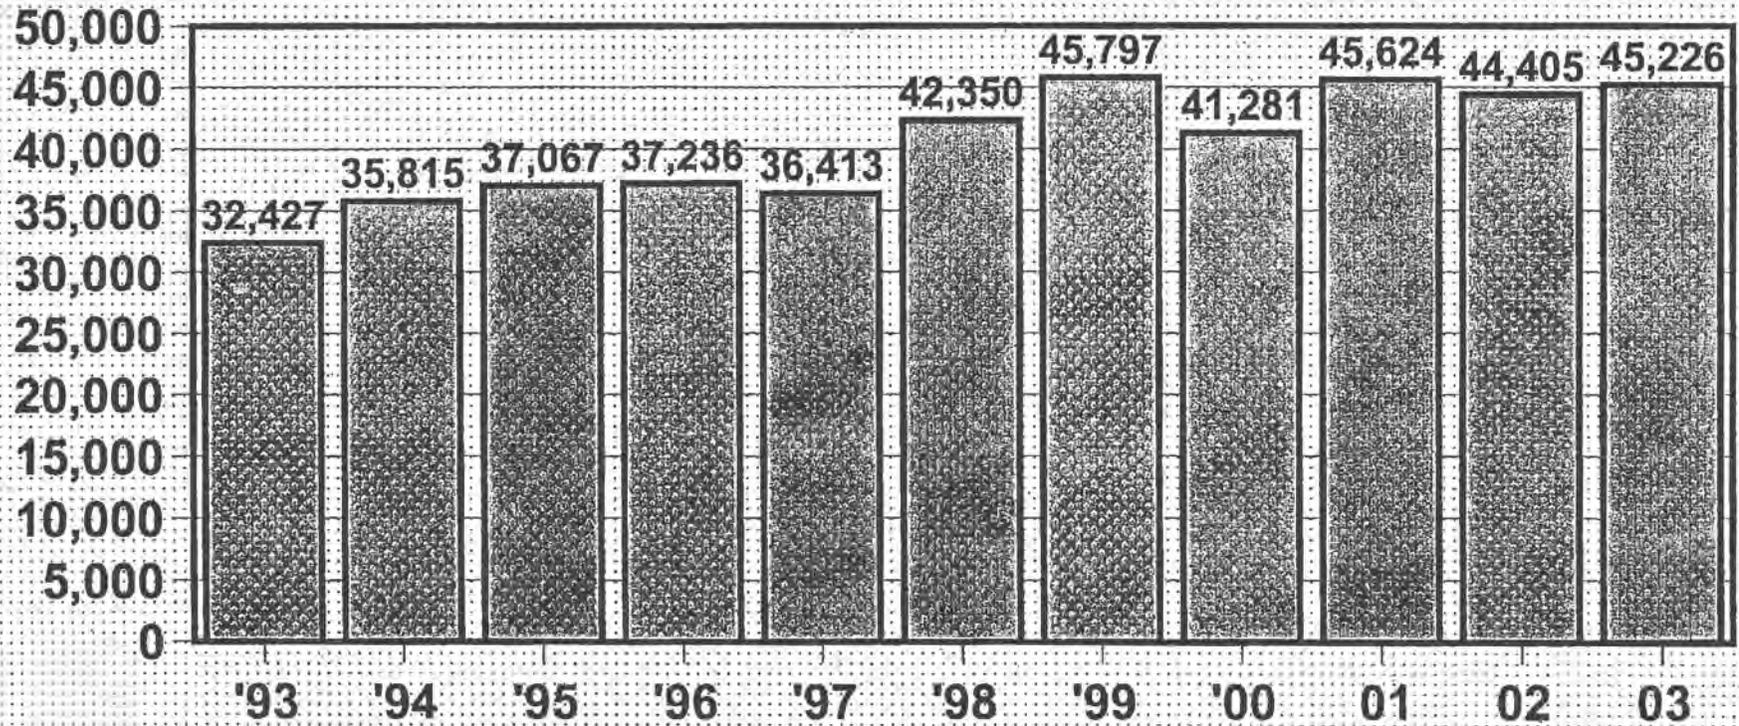

In 2003, there were 2,913 grievances closed and dismissed by the IGRC in accordance with Directive #4040, Section V. A. 5. This represents 6.4% of all grievances filed. For comparison, in 2002 a total of 2,345 grievances, or 5.3% of all grievances filed, were closed and dismissed by the IGRC.

A total of 26,059 grievances were processed at the Superintendent's level in 2003. This reflects a decrease of 42 grievances, or a 0.16% decrease, from the 26,101 grievances addressed by the Superintendent in 2002. The 2003 figures indicate 57.62% of all grievances filed were processed at the Superintendent's level (refer to graphs #7 and #8).

The total number of grievances resolved/closed at the facility level was 30,794 or 68.08% of all grievances filed. This reflects a decrease of 1,258 grievances from the 32,010 grievances closed at the facility level in 2002. For clarification, the number of grievances closed at the facility level has been computed by subtracting the number of grievances heard at CORC from the total number of grievances filed (refer to graphs #9 and #10).

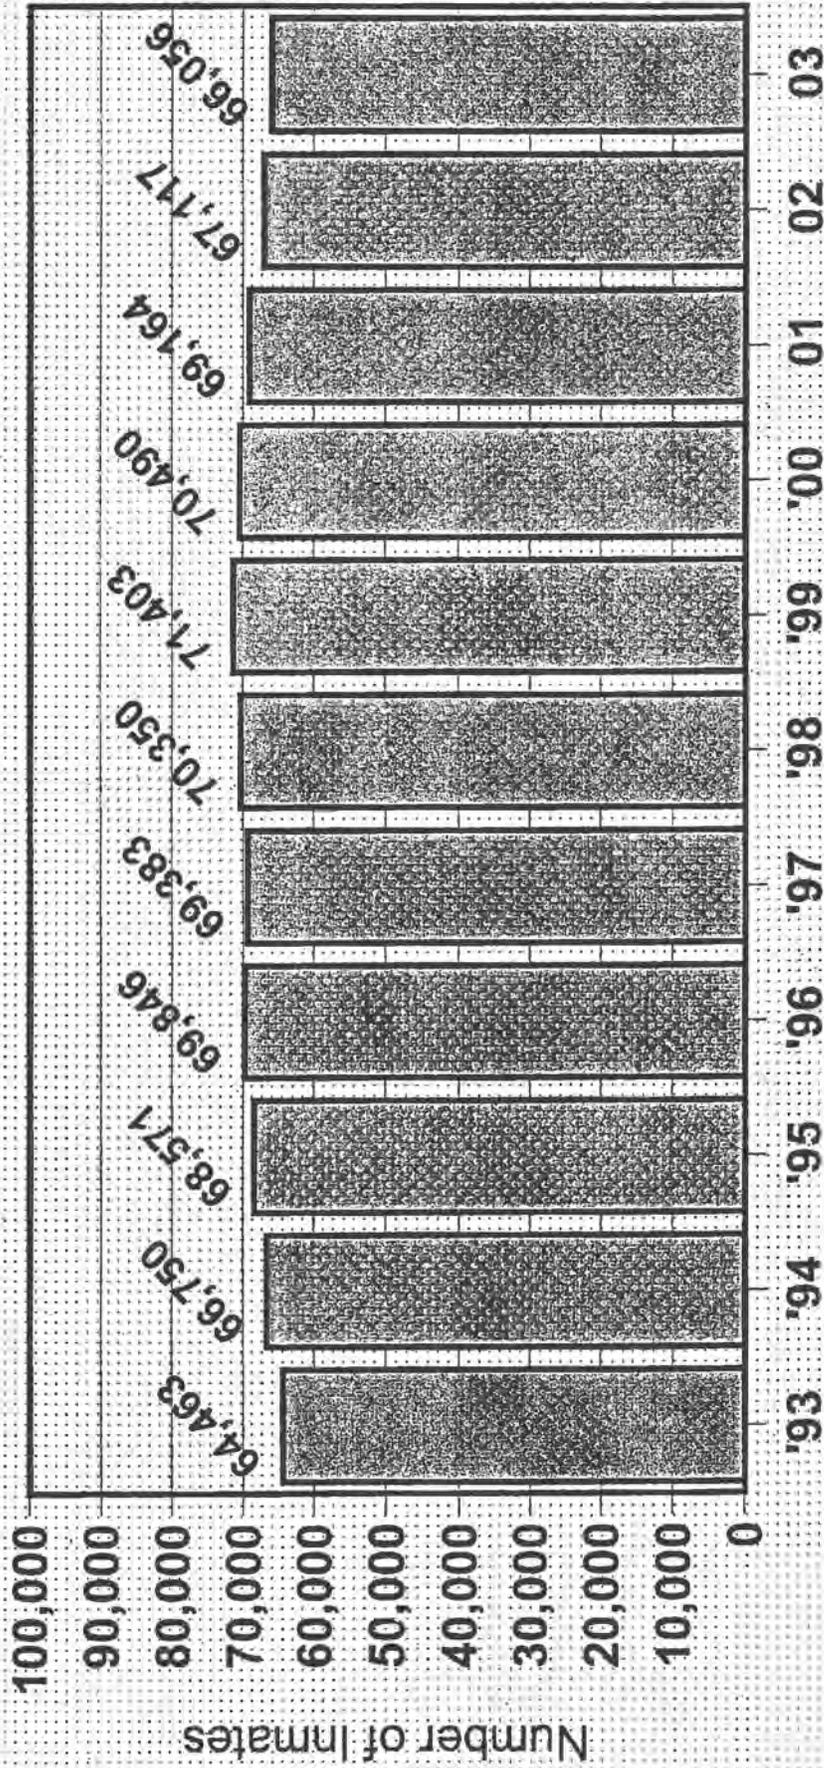

As of February 1, 1994, any grievances related to allegations of Directive #4910 violations during a strip search/strip frisk were reported on the Classification Sheet in Codes 25.1 for Strip Search and 25.2 for Strip Frisk. The strip search and strip frisk grievances were carried on the clerk's log and supplemental sheets in the same manner as all other grievances. In 2003, the number of grievances under Code 25.1 (18-Strip Search) and 25.2 (31-Strip Frisk) totaled 49. This compares to 65 in 2002, 82 in 2001, 72 in 2000, 74 in 1999, 74 in 1998, 78 in 1997, 82 in 1996, 86 in 1995 and 113 in 1994.

Beginning in September 1999, grievances related to Native Americans were to be monitored for two years. These grievances have "Native American" in the title and are reported monthly. Through 2000, there were 54 grievances in reference to Native Americans reported. In 2001, there were 50 grievances in this category. Through July 2002, an additional 21 Native American grievances were reported. Although, still tracked in the same manner with the use of the title, subsequent reports have not been requested since July 2002.

Effective July 2000, any grievances related to allegations of pat frisks of female inmates were reported on the Code Classification Sheet under Code 25.3, Pat Frisk (Female Inmates). In the last six months of 2000, there were 3 grievances filed in this category. This total increased to 7 in 2001, and only 5 in 2002. In 2003, there were 11 grievances reported.

III. IGP STAFF

Central Office staff made approximately 56 facility visits during 2003. Inmate Grievance Central Office staff conducted orientation/training sessions for 257 Training Academy Correctional Officer recruits, and 97 Sergeants in the Training Academy Sergeant's School. In addition to regularly scheduled weekly CORC meetings, IGP Central Office staff attended 45 meetings, conferences, ceremonies, Crisis Intervention Unit (CIU) training/meetings and various events.

During 2003, 10 facility staff transitions occurred due to reassignment, retirement, promotion and resignations. There were 6 Central Office staff transitions due to lateral transfer or promotion. All Inmate Grievance Programs that had staff transitions during 2003 received assistance from the regional program coordinators or other facility staff in order to help maintain the programs until replacement of staff was accomplished.

In 2003, staff transitions occurred at the following facilities:

Altona C.F. - The IGP Supervisor took a promotion with the Division of Parole in September and the position was filled when the IGP Supervisor took a lateral transfer from Bare Hill C.F. in October.

Bare Hill C.F. - The IGP Supervisor took a lateral transfer to Altona C.F. in October and the position was filled when the IGP Supervisor from Upstate C.F. took a lateral transfer in November.

Cayuga C.F. - The IGP Supervisor took a lateral transfer to Mohawk C.F. in October 2002 and the item was filed in April 2003 through the Civil Service list.

Clinton C.F. - The IGP Supervisor retreated to his hold item and the item was filled when the IGP Supervisor took a lateral transfer from Upstate C.F.

Great Meadow C.F. - The IGP Supervisor took a lateral transfer to Mt. McGregor in December 2003 and the item was vacant at the end of the year.

Mt. McGregor C.F. - The IGP Supervisor retired from state service and the Great Meadow IGP Supervisor took a lateral transfer in December 2003.

Sing Sing C.F. - The IGP Supervisor took a lateral transfer and the former IGP Supervisor returned to his hold item as the IGP Supervisor at Sing Sing C.F.

Southport C.F. - The IGP Supervisor died in December 2002 and the item was filled in May 2003. The person then retreated to her hold item and the item was filled in June 2003 through the Civil Service list.

Upstate C.F. - The two IGP Supervisors took lateral transfers during the year, one to Clinton C.F. in April and the other to Bare Hill C.F. in November. Both items were filled through the Civil Service list in September and December respectively.

Wallkill C.F. - The IGP Supervisor resigned from state service and the Sing Sing C.F. IGP Supervisor took a lateral transfer in October 2003.

During 2002, the IGP Supervisor was out of the facility on extended leave at Cape Vincent and remained on leave in 2003. In January 2003, the Director was on extended sick leave and returned to duty in February 2003. The IGP Supervisor from Shawangunk C. F. was on Administrative Leave in September 2003 and remained on leave at the end of the year. The IGP Supervisor at Wende C.F. was activated for military duty in February 2003 and remained activated through the end of the year.

In 2003, the staff transitions occurred in Central Office as follows:

January - A Keyboard Specialist I (KBS I) was hired from the Civil Service list and another KBS I took a lateral transfer to a facility.

June - The new IGP Supervisor item was filled through the Civil Service list.

July - A KBS I took a leave of absence from the department to move with her husband out of state.

October - Two KBS I were hired from the Civil Service list.

The Civil Service examination for IGP Supervisor Trainee was given on September 7, 2002 and the list was active as of November 18, 2002. It is expected to expire in 2006.

During 2003, Central Office staff responded to 3,422 letters from inmates, as well as correspondence from inmates' family and friends, compared to 2,726 in 2002. Central Office staff researched and copied grievance case materials for 49 Freedom of Information Law (FOIL) requests from various persons and agencies, up from the 31 in 2002. Relevant to inmate litigation, Central Office staff researched and gathered grievance documents for 429 inquiries from the Attorney General's staff, down from the 501 in 2002.

IV. Central Office Review Committee (CORC)

The CORC is the final appellate level of the Inmate Grievance Program. The CORC consists of the Deputy Commissioner and Counsel, Deputy Commissioner for Correctional Facilities, Deputy Commissioner for Program Services, Deputy Commissioner for Administrative Services, and the Deputy Commissioner and Chief Medical Officer, or their designees expressly authorized to act for them. The CORC functions on behalf of the Commissioner and under his authority. The CORC decisions have the effect of directives.

The PLRA of 1995, amended 42 U.S.C. Section 1997e(a), requires that inmates must exhaust available administrative remedies before suing over prison conditions. This has been a major factor in the increase in grievance appeals. In addition, there have been two United States Supreme Court decisions that have been a catalyst in this increase. On May 29, 2001, the court decided in Booth v. Churner that even if the administrative remedy does not provide monetary damages, it is still an available remedy. Subsequently, on February 26, 2002, the court, in Porter v. Nussle decided that exhaustion is required in every situation, regardless of the nature of the inmate's underlying claim.

Grievance appeals to CORC increased from the 12,395 in 2002 to 14,432 in 2003. This reflects an increase of 2,037 grievance appeals. The CORC addressed 9,548 grievance appeals in 1999, 10,527 in 2000 and 11,754 in 2001. Since 1999, the CORC has realized an increase of 4,884 grievance appeals, a 51.2% increase.

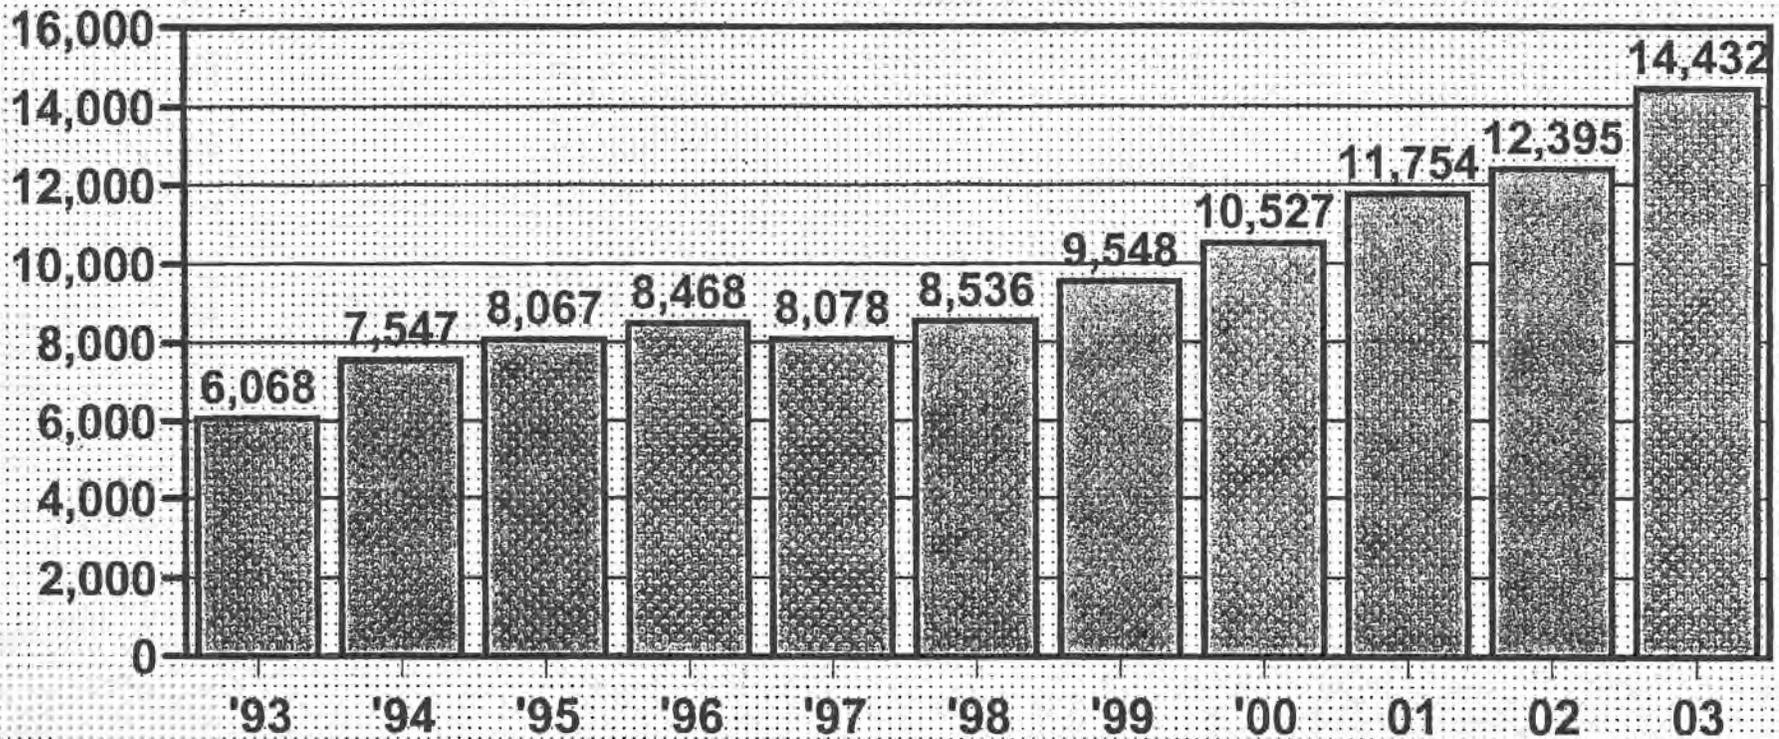

The number of the CORC responses to grievance appeals is affected by 'carry-overs' at the beginning (grievances filed in 2002 but received at the CORC in 2003) and the end (grievances filed in 2003 but answered by the CORC in 2004) of each year. The 14,432 total is the actual number of grievances answered by the CORC in 2002 (refer to graph #11).

Of the 14,432 grievances decided by the CORC in 2003, 4,346 or 30.1%, were determined to be meritorious or have merit in part. In 2002, 3,937 or 32.0% were found to be meritorious or have merit in part. The number of meritorious grievances in 2003 represents an increase of 409 grievances from that in 2002.

The CORC dispositions were transmitted back to the grievants in an average of 27.4 calendar days at the CORC level. This reflects an increase from the 23.1 calendar day average in 2002.

The CORC decisions were transmitted back to the grievants in an average of 71.6 calendar days from the date filed at the facility. This is an increase of 4.2 calendar days from the calendar day average of 67.4 in 2002 and well within the 90 calendar day limit mandated by Title 28, Code of Federal Regulations and the Federal Certification.

V. GRIEVANCE TRENDS AND ANALYSIS

The 44,405 grievances filed in 2002 reflect a decrease of 1,219 grievance submissions from the 45,624 grievances filed in 2001. Historically, Code 24, Special Housing Units, had been one of the most grieved areas. From 1993 until 1998, it was not ranked among the five highest categories. Since 1998, the five most grieved categories in order of rank have been Staff Conduct, Medical, Housing-Internal Block Affairs, Package Room and Special Housing Units. The grievances filed from the S-Blocks, Southport C.F. and Upstate C.F. had an impact on each of these categories and are the primary reason the Special Housing Units code remains in the top 5 categories.

However, in 2002, Code 49, Staff Conduct, and Code 22, Medical, reversed positions with Code 22, Medical, becoming the lead category. The trends and analysis in each category continue to be consistent with prior years except for the increase in the number of medical grievances as explained below.

1. CODE 22, MEDICAL

In 2003, the number of medical grievances filed was 8,377 compared to the 8,003 filed in 2002, an increase of 374 or 4.7%. Medical grievances accounted for 18.52% of all grievances filed, compared to the 18.02% filed in 2002, an increase of .50%.

The grievances can be attributed to the inmates who regularly file numerous medical complaints for real or perceived medical problems, and do so at any facility in which they are housed. Thus, many of the issues presented remain constant in this category. It is believed that some medical grievances are filed in order to create a record of the grievant's request for medical attention or in an attempt to enhance medical treatment. There are grievances filed where the requested action is cited as a health concern, even though the request may be non-medical in nature.

In some cases, prolific grievants are seriously ill and the number of grievances they file often demonstrate anxiety. Many complain of chronic back pain, arthritis, etc. The anxiety results in grievances because of the time taken to accomplish an outside consult or appointment. This analysis is validated by the repetition in the composition of the complaints. Another factor is the perception on the part of inmates that recommendations made by outside consultants must be implemented without question, when in reality the Facility Health Services Director evaluates the recommendation and determines the treatment plan for inmates under his care.

Further, inmate anticipation of specific treatment plans and desired medical services often do not fall within the realm of possibility, nor are they medically indicated by facility doctors. Requests for specialty consultants such as dermatologists, podiatrists, ophthalmologists, allergists, neurologists and various others are common. Requests for medical procedures not in accordance with the medical provider's policy, the Department's Health Services Manual, nor ordered by the Facility Health Services Director, account for some of the medical complaints.

In some grievances, a medical condition is cited as the reason for requesting items that are issued on medical order only. These requests are for items such as bed boards, orthopedic shoes, eyeglasses, nutritional supplements, Visine, skin creams, pain medications, medicated shampoos and vitamins. Other examples of special medical requests are for single cell, lower bunk, additional showers, special diets, medical appliances and boxer shorts.

In some instances, the medical condition cited by the inmate does not exist according to that inmate's medical record, nor is it a condition already being addressed by the facility health staff. Access to outside health providers is also a factor in the number of medical grievances. The combination of perceived illness and actual illness within the inmate population is expected to continue to account for a portion of the number of medical complaints.

The S-Block, Upstate C.F. and Southport C.F. inmates do not come out of their cells except for visits, disciplinary hearings and if the facility doctor determines it is necessary for a medical examination. These inmates feel they should come out for all medical contacts due to privacy concerns.

An increase in the number of wheelchair inmates brought Americans with Disability Act (ADA) issues such as supplies, higher bed, catheters, outside trips, replacement wheelchairs and aides.

The description of grievances in the medical category is intended to demonstrate the variety of complaints received and is not a complete list of medical grievances.

2. CODE 49, STAFF CONDUCT

In 2003, the number of staff conduct grievances filed was 7,437 compared to the 7,385 filed in 2002, an increase of 52 grievances or .70%. The staff conduct grievances accounted for 16.45% of all grievances filed compared to the 16.63% filed in 2002, showing a decrease of .18%.

A significant number of staff conduct grievances continue to be attributed to inmate interaction with staff involving misbehavior reports. The perception among staff is that some of the harassment complaints resulting from interaction between employees and inmates are filed by the inmates in an attempt to discredit misbehavior reports written by staff and to recover the $5.00 surcharge imposed on inmates for affirmed misbehavior reports. A January 1992 revision of Title 7, NYCRR authorizes the surcharge.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, has remained in the five most grieved categories due to the wide range of issues that could be perceived and presented by inmates as inappropriate staff conduct or harassment. A review of Code 49 grievance titles substantiates that "Staff Conduct" numbers are inflated by inmate perception, any difference of opinion with staff and an inmate's unfamiliarity with facility policies or statewide rules.

The inmate's perception that direct orders are a form of harassment is frequently obvious in the description of events in grievances submitted in this code. An inmate's failure to follow procedures may result in the loss of an opportunity to participate in an activity or to exercise an option. An example of this is when an inmate neglects to respond to announcements concerning the commencement of certain activities or the preparation of a list by staff of inmates who wish to participate in an upcoming activity. This results in the inmate's inability to participate and consequently, the filing of grievances due to the perception of unfair treatment or that staff could have made an exception. The logistics involved in coordinating the activities and movement of large groups of people have not traditionally been readily appreciated by an inmate who files this type of complaint, since the result of such consideration would not support strict adherence to rules governing callouts, attendance and movement.

The examples of grievances in the staff conduct category are intended to demonstrate the variety of complaints received and are not a complete list of staff conduct grievances.

3. CODE 23, HOUSING-INTERNAL BLOCK AFFAIRS

In 2003, the number of Housing-Internal Block Affairs grievances filed was 3,742 compared to 3,868 filed in 2002, a decrease of 126 grievances or 3.26%. The grievances in this code accounted for 8.27% of all grievances filed, compared to the 8.71% filed in 2002, a decrease of .44%.

Grievances in this code consist of issues concerning physical housing conditions such as double cell, double bunk, cube space, air circulation/fans, furniture, hot water, heat, window screens and storage space.

Service issues in this category include cell cleaning supplies, laundering of clothes and linen, winter blankets, list taking procedures, callout procedures, haircuts, in-cell feed up, maintenance of housing areas and repair of housing areas. Other grievances pertain to supplies, enforcement of cell standards, desired/undesired cell moves, honor block denials, denied items or service, cleanliness, pest control measures, removal from double bunk beds, staff performance of duties, distribution of personal mail, mailboxes, razor issue policy, bulletin boards, posting of memos, announcements over public address system, television cable and radio/television volume.

The noted issues in this category are intended to demonstrate the variety of complaints filed in Code 23; it is not a complete list of housing unit complaints.

4. CODE 30, PACKAGE ROOM

In 2003, the number of package room grievances filed was 2,099 compared to 2,042 filed in 2002, an increase of 57 grievances or 2.8%. Package room grievances accounted for 4.64% of all grievances filed, compared to the 4.6% filed in 2002, showing an increase of .04% in this code.

Many of the package room complaints result from a difference in security staff and inmate interpretation of Departmental Directive #4911, entitled "Packages & Articles Sent or Brought to Facilities". The governing directive describes items permitted to be received and the provisions thereof. The package room complaints have not substantially changed. The issues include hot pots, typewriters, watches, sneakers, food items and musical instruments.

Other issues still focus around inmate desire for items not allowed by directive because they are too valuable and present security concerns, and do not conform to directive size limitations. Other issues include permitted items that do not conform to other requirements of the package room directive, such as packaging for food products, colors of clothing/undergarments/linens, the opening of package items to be searched and items that require approval of the Superintendent for receipt via special permit.

As in past years, the technological advancement in the design and variety of some allowable items results in their denial. The same is true of other merchandise that has been so improved by technology that the item is essentially changed and does not conform to package room guidelines.

Package Room grievances were also affected by the S-Block and Upstate C.F. inmates as a result of their movement from a maximum security keeplock situation to an S-Block or Upstate C.F. The inmate, although not on a loss of packages disposition, falls under the Special Housing Unit (SHU) policies regarding the limitation of packages as outlined in Directive #4933.

The resulting desire for products unacceptable for receipt via the package room impacts the number of grievances filed in this category.

5. CODE 24, SPECIAL HOUSING UNITS

In 2003, the number of SHU grievances filed was 1,471 compared to 1,542 filed in 2002. This is a decrease of 71 grievances or 4.6%. SHU accounted for 3.25% of all grievances filed, compared to 3.47% in 2002, a decrease of .22%.

Grievance submissions from the S-Blocks have increased by 180 from 2002. Upstate C.F. and Southport C.F. combined showed an increase of 125 grievance submissions from 2002. This is a total increase of 305 grievances from these facilities. Some inmates transferred to these units were coming from maximum security facilities where they were in keeplock status in a general population cell. As a condition of confinement, the inmates must follow the SHU policies consistent with Directive #4933, which limits property in the cell, visits, packages, inmate contact, etc. Therefore, they grieve all aspects of the SHU policies.

Many of these aspects include smoking policy, cell cleanup, Progressive Inmate Movement System (PIMS) level issues, food issues and library materials.

The grievances in this category deal with SHU issues and do not reflect the actual number of grievances filed from SHU.

Clinton Correctional Facility (Main)

There were 1,989 grievances filed in 2003, a decrease from the 2,209 last year.

Code 3, Correspondence, decreased from 100 grievances to 73. The decrease is attributed to a change in responsibility of processing privileged correspondence to another area.

Code 22, Medical, decreased from 441 grievances to 338. These grievances concerned quality of care, delay in care, outside consultations, medical procedures, medication issues and special medical requests for footwear, eye care, special diets, showers, physical therapy, permits, etc. The decrease of activity is attributed mostly to having two doctors on staff and an expedient sick call procedure. Complaints about delays in care and outside specialists had the greatest reduction from 2002.

Code 23, Housing-Internal Block Affairs, increased from 226 grievances to 255. Many of these grievances concerned supplies, especially after the ration of toilet paper was reduced from 4 to 3 rolls a month. Other issues concerned cell repairs, denied access to yard and meals, showers, heat, etc.

Code 29, Inmate Property, increased from 68 grievances to 88. This increase is attributed to a change of policy in January and February which allowed property to be issued before the I-64 form was received. This policy has been modified. Other issues included lost, confiscated and damaged property.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, increased from 207 grievances to 232. These grievances alleged physical abuse, racial slurs, food tampering, threats, verbal abuse and staff incompetence, such as improper list taking procedures which results in missed showers, yard, meals, etc.

These grievances concerned quality of care, delay in care, outside consultations, delays of approved outside consultations, medical procedures, medication issues, and special medical requests for eye care, footwear, bottom bunk, single cell, x-rays, assorted tests, surgery, special diets, hearing aid supplies, OMH referral, pacemaker, double mattress, etc. A new sick call procedure was introduced where medical staff pick up all sick call slips directly.

Code 23, Housing-Internal Block Affairs, decreased from 713 grievances to 389. These grievances concerned access to property, supplies, nail clippers, announcements, headphones, mail delivery, clean up, showers, cell mates, new mattress, feed up procedures, etc.

Code 40, Law Library, decreased from 252 grievances to 206. These grievances concerned legal supplies, photocopying, delays in service, quality of service, outdated material, etc.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, increased from 407 grievances to 867. These grievances alleged physical abuse, racial slurs, threats, verbal abuse, and staff incompetence. The increase of staff conduct grievances may be attributed in part to the discretion of how the IGP Supervisors code grievances. Two inmates accounted for 175 grievances.

SULLIVAN HUB

Eastern Correctional Facility

There were 686 grievances filed in 2003, an increase from the 568 last year.

Code 2, Incentive Wage Allowance, had 5 grievances in 2003, a decrease from the 16 last year. The decrease in grievances in this category was attributed the Senior Counselor in charge of inmate payrolls working with IGRC staff in resolving such issues.

Code 12, Work Assignments, had 30 grievances in 2003, an increase from the 16 last year. This increase is attributed to several Industry inmates being removed from their assignments due to disciplinary reasons and seeking reassignment.

Code 20, ASAT, had 34 grievances in 2003, an increase from the 13 last year. Issues were questioning Alcohol and Substance Abuse Treatment (ASAT) as only mandatory within one year of release, disputing any drug history, evaluations and the Retention Review Committee decisions.

Code 22, Medical, had 152 grievances in 2003, an increase from the 128 last year. Of the total, 32 were filed by 5 inmates. Grievance issues included proper medical treatment not given, access to specialist, eyeglasses, receiving medical physicals, review of medical records, medical consent forms, diet changes, extra mattress, canes and physical therapy.

Code 30, Package Room, had 61 grievances in 2003, a decrease from the 63 last year. Grievance issues generally were in reference to denied items.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 60 grievances in 2003, an increase from the 23 last year. There were three SHU inmates who filed 27 of the total in this category.

Mid-Orange Correctional Facility

There were 396 grievances filed in 2003, an increase from the 209 last year.

Code 22, Medical, had 82 grievances in 2003, an increase from the 45 last year. Grievance issues included bottom bunk permits, bedboards, outside trips to specialists, dispensing of medication and scheduled surgeries. The inmate population is concern with H-pylori also contributed to the increase.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 63 grievances in 2003, an increase from the 40 last year. Four inmates filed 21 of the total grievances in this category. Grievance allegations included unprofessional conduct, negligent care, breach of confidentiality and officers making their own rules.

Otisville Correctional Facility

There were 300 grievances filed in 2003, an increase from the 189 last year.

Code 6, Guidance, had 20 grievances in 2003, an increase from the 5 last year. The issues in this category were in regard to counselor determinations of needed programming, such as Residential Substance Abuse Treatment (RSAT), school and vocational programs.

Code 22, Medical, had 77 grievances in 2003, an increase from the 55 last year. Grievance issues included inmates self-prescribing, outside medical treatment and requests for medications/treatment from prior facility.

Code 30, Package Room, had 27 grievances in 2003, an increase from the 13 last year. Grievance issues included denied items. The tendency is to file grievances regardless if it is not allowed by Directive #4911.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 27 grievances in 2003, an increase from the 18 last year. Grievance allegations in many cases are retaliation against the staff member for the filing of a misbehavior report.

Shawangunk Correctional Facility

There were 944 grievances filed in 2003, a decrease from the 1,023 last year.

Code 22, Medical, had 155 grievances in 2003, an increase from the 123 last year. This increase in grievance activity is primarily attributed to inmates unwilling to accept the medical care given. Grievance issues center around the level of care, not the quality.

Code 23, Housing-Internal Block Affairs, had 83 grievances in 2003, a decrease from the 197 last year. This decrease in grievance activity is primarily attributed to the fact that in 2002 there were a number of policy changes implemented that contributed to higher grievances. This year there only a few subtle policy changes.

Code 24, Special Housing Units, had 36 grievances in 2003, an increase from the 14 last year. This increase in grievance activity is primarily attributed to one inmate. Grievance issues were in regard to items/privileges he believed he should receive but not in Directive #4933.

Code 30, Package Room, had 107 grievances in 2003, a decrease from the 113 last year. Grievance issues are attributed to enforcement of property limits and inmates questioning the parameters of Directive #4911.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 69 grievances in 2003, a decrease from the 89 last year. Grievance allegations generally include allegations of routine staff tasks being construed as harassment.

Sullivan Correctional Facility

There were 695 grievances filed in 2003, a decrease from the 1,002 last year. Although there was a decrease in grievances, the grievance activity is primarily attributed to multiple filers, as 6 inmates were responsible for 120 grievances.

Code 22, Medical, had 103 grievances in 2003, a decrease from the 178 last year. This category is 14.8% of the total filed, less than the statewide average. This is attributed to bi-monthly meetings with the Deputy Superintendent for Administration, Nurse Administrator, Inmate Liaison Committee and IGRC. It was found that many issues could be resolved prior to being filed as a grievance.

Code 23, Housing-Internal Block Affairs, had 57 grievances in 2003, a decrease from the 83 last year. Grievance issues generally included double celling complaints. The decrease in this category is attributed to the direct involvement of security supervisors in housing issues.

Code 31, Rules and Regulations, had 52 grievances in 2003, a decrease from the 73 last year. Grievance issues included escort entitlement, housing procedures, HUB transportation procedures and bus schedules.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 78 grievances in 2003, a decrease from the 83 last year. Six inmates filed 18 of the grievances in this category. The decrease was attributed to the presence of the Deputy Superintendent for Security and Captain throughout the facility.

Ulster Correctional Facility

There were 85 grievances filed in 2003, a decrease from the 96 last year.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 34 grievances in 2003, an increase from the 33 last year. Grievance allegations included verbal abuse, inappropriate language, inappropriate rule enforcement, physical abuse and discrimination.

Wallkill Correctional Facility

There were 257 grievances filed in 2003, a decrease from the 276 last year.

Code 22, Medical, had 64 grievances in 2003, a decrease from the 98 last year. Grievance issues included access to specialists, the doctor, MRIs, x-rays, medication and proper and timely treatment. Also, included were issues dealing with medical records, sick call procedures, Hepatitis C treatment and bottom bunk.

Code 23, Housing-Internal Block Affairs, had 19 grievances in 2003, an increase from the 6 last year. Grievances included issues in regard to single cells, bottom bunks, wake up calls and smoke breaks.

Code 39, Facility Maintenance, had 16 grievances in 2003, an increase from the 3 last year. This increase was attributed to water problems the facility experienced. The inmate population was provided information, materials and updates on a continual basis.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 39 grievances in 2003, a decrease from the 48 last year. Grievance allegations included threats, harmful or abusive remarks, physical contact and discriminatory treatment.

Woodbourne Correctional Facility

There were 466 grievances filed in 2003, an increase from the 331 last year. This increase is attributed to 2 inmates who filed 162 grievances.

Code 22, Medical, had 93 grievances in 2003, an increase from the 78 last year. Grievance issues included Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) issues, copy/review records, medication renewals and refills, outside appointments and Hepatitis C treatments.

Code 30, Package Room, had 32 grievances in 2003, an increase from the 10 last year. Last year's lower grievance activity was primarily attributed to stability in the staffing of the package room. This year there was a lack of a steady officer for much of the year. Many grievances were informally resolved due to the allowance of the item by a security supervisor after the initial denial by the Officer.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 50 grievances in 2003, an increase from the 35 last year. Grievance allegations were generally interaction with security staff. There was no indication of any patterns or trends.

Code 50, Miscellaneous, had 51 grievances in 2003, an increase from the 35 last year. This increase is attributed to unusual grievances filed by one of the two inmates noted above that filed numerous grievances. Requests included tear down the correctional facility and build a high rise building, privatize the prison system, a slot machine, promote female officers, higher education for officers, stop the publication of DOCS Today and teleconference for Parole Board.

There were 1,024 grievances filed in 2003, an increase from the 908 last year. Five inmates accounted for 145 of the total grievances filed.

Code 2, Incentive Wage Allowance, had 16 grievances in 2003, a decrease from the 50 last year. This decrease in grievance activity is primarily attributed to program supervisors assuming responsibility for back pay and overtime issues.

Code 22, Medical, had 162 grievances in 2003, an increase from the 117 last year. Grievance issues included timely medication refills, access to specialist and responses from health staff.

Code 23, Housing-Internal Block Affairs, had 75 grievances in 2003, an increase from the 66 last year. Grievance issues continue to be double celling and the single cell seniority waiting list, not wanting to be double bunked or know where they are on the list.

Code 30, Package Room, had 76 grievances in 2003, an increase from the 57 last year. The increase is attributed to the lack of a regular officer who was off on extended leave and the retirement of the regular area Sergeant. Grievance issues included denied items (boots, clothes, electronic devices) and missing packages/items.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 149 grievances in 2003, a decrease from the 160 last year. The decrease is attributed to the fact that previously many of the issues dealing with the Stay-n-Out Program were being filed in this category and are now being processed as procedural issues. Many of the grievances in the category were related to the filing of a misbehavior report.

Bayview Correctional Facility

There were 128 grievances filed in 2003, an increase from the 99 last year.
