INMATE GRIEVANCE PROGRAM
ANNUAL REPORT
2005

I. INTRODUCTION

The Inmate Grievance Program (IGP) functions under Departmental Directive #4040 entitled "Inmate Grievance Program" and Departmental Directive #4041 entitled "Inmate Grievance Program Modification Plan" and is established by the statutory mandates of Section 139 NYS Correction Law and N.Y.C.R.R., Title 7, Part 701.

The Inmate Grievance Program provides each inmate an orderly, fair, simple and expeditious method of resolving grievances pursuant to Section 139, NYS Correction Law. This grievance program includes procedures for inmates to resolve allegations of discriminatory treatment in accordance with the State Commission of Correction regulation 9 NYCRR Part 7695. Grievances filed prior to July 7, 1990 were reviewed by the NYS Commission of Correction and responded to by the Commissioner. Correction Law 139 was amended by Chapter 373 of the Laws of 1990 deleting the requirement that the Commission of Correction review individual grievances, yet required the Commission of Correction to review and assess the grievance process on an annual basis. The elimination of the advisory step ensures that the grievance process is more expeditious while at the same time allows the Commission of Correction to provide oversight.

On September 28, 1992, the U. S. Department of Justice, Office of the Associate Attorney General, pursuant to the authority conferred by Title 42, United States Code, Section 1997e and Part 40 of Title 28, Code of Federal Regulations granted full certification that the NYS Department of Correctional Services Inmate Grievance Program is in substantial compliance with the standards set forth in Part 40 of Title 28, Code of Federal Regulations. Based on this certification, the court may order that prior to litigating claims under 42 U.S.C. Section 1983, New York State inmates shall exhaust any remedies they have with respect to the claim through the Inmate Grievance Program. For the purpose of this order, the disposition of the Central Office Review Committee (CORC) constitutes sufficient proof of exhaustion. In 1996, the federal government passed the Prisoner's Litigation Reform Act (PLRA) which enacted the same requirement for all inmates.

On May 29, 2001, the United States Supreme Court decision in Booth v. Churner required that prisoners exhaust their administrative remedies before bringing damage lawsuits in federal court even if the administrative remedy does not provide damages. Subsequently, on February 26, 2002, the United States Supreme Court decision in Porter v. Nussle held that the exhaustion requirement applies to all inmate suits about prison life, whether they involve general circumstances or particular episodes and whether they allege excessive force or some other wrong. These decisions, along with the PLRA have had an impact on the number of grievances being appealed to CORC. The impact is addressed in Part IV of this report.

II. STATISTICAL ANALYSIS OF IGP WORKLOAD

The number of grievances filed in 2005 was 45,345, an increase from the 44,587 filed in 2004. This is an increase of 758 grievances as compared to the decrease of 639 grievances realized last year. However, the trend in the last six years is one of fluctuating from an increase to a decrease each year and vice-versa with a high in 1999 of 45,797 grievances and a low of 41,281 in 2000. The non-calendared inmate contacts continued the decreasing trend with 37,999 in 1999 to the 25,625 in 2005. The trend by inmates to file a grievance so that the administrative remedies can be exhausted has continued. Thus, the inmates who do file grievances are tending to exhaust the administrative remedy with an appeal to CORC.

This 2005 total of 45,345 represents an increase of 1.42%, while the inmate population decreased by 4.1% from the 66,056 average in 2004 to an average of 63,360 in 2005 (refer to graphs #1 and #2). In 2005, there were 715.7 grievance submissions per one thousand inmates, which is 3.6% more than the 689.45 grievance submissions per one thousand inmates in 2004.

During 2005, IGP field staff recorded approximately 25,625 non-calendared inmate contacts which clarified issues and/or enabled inmates to resolve problems without the submission of calendared grievances. Non-calendared contacts in 2005 reflect a decrease of 2,086 from the 27,711 non-calendared contacts logged in 2004.

In 2005, there were 5,324 grievances (11.7% of the total filed) informally resolved by the Inmate Grievance Resolution Committee (IGRC). The number of informal resolutions realized by the IGRC in 2005 is more than the 4,954 grievances (11.11% of the total filed) in 2004. This is an increase of 370 informal resolutions, or a 6.9% increase (refer to graphs #3 and #4).

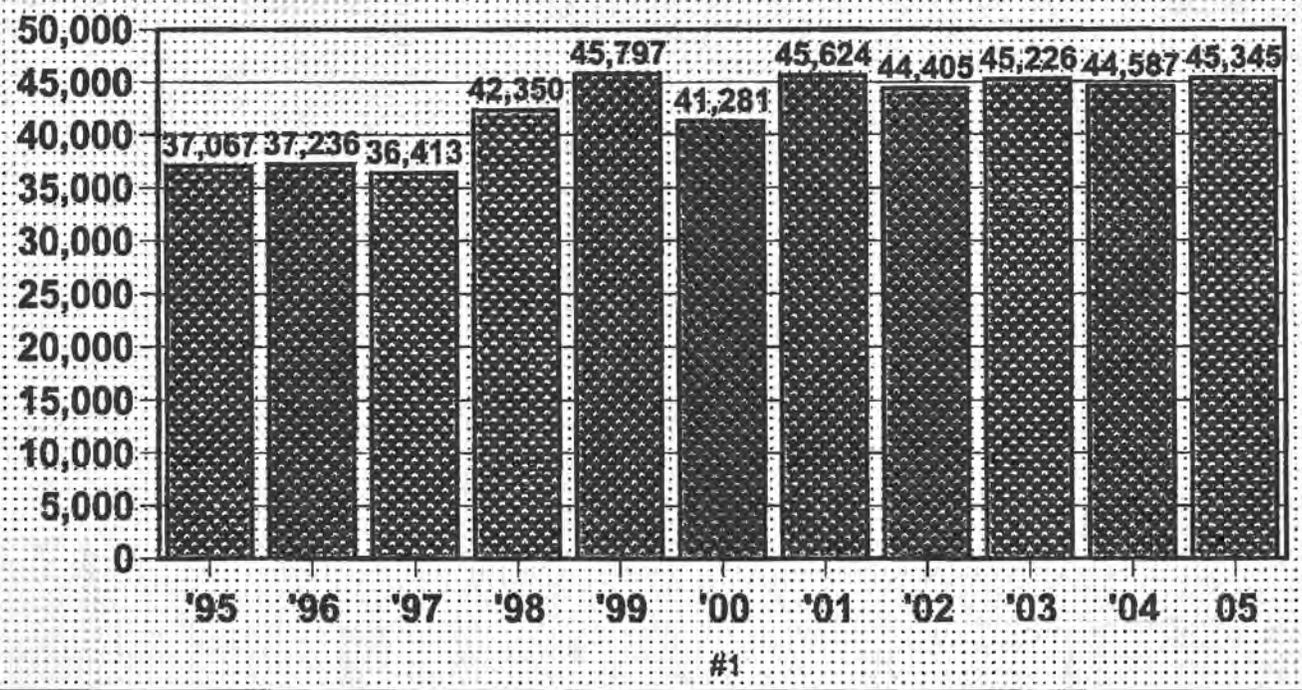

There were 31,426 Inmate Grievance Resolution Committee (IGRC) hearings (69.30% of total filed) held statewide in 2005, an increase from the 30,515 hearings (68.44% of total filed) in 2004. This reflects an increase of 911 IGRC hearings. This increase is consistent with the increase in total grievances filed statewide (refer to graphs #5 and #6).

In 2005, there were 2,796 grievances closed and dismissed by the IGRC in accordance with Directive #4040, Section V. A. 5. This represents 6.2% of all grievances filed. For comparison, in 2004 a total of 2,787 grievances, or 6.3% of all grievances filed, were closed and dismissed by the IGRC.

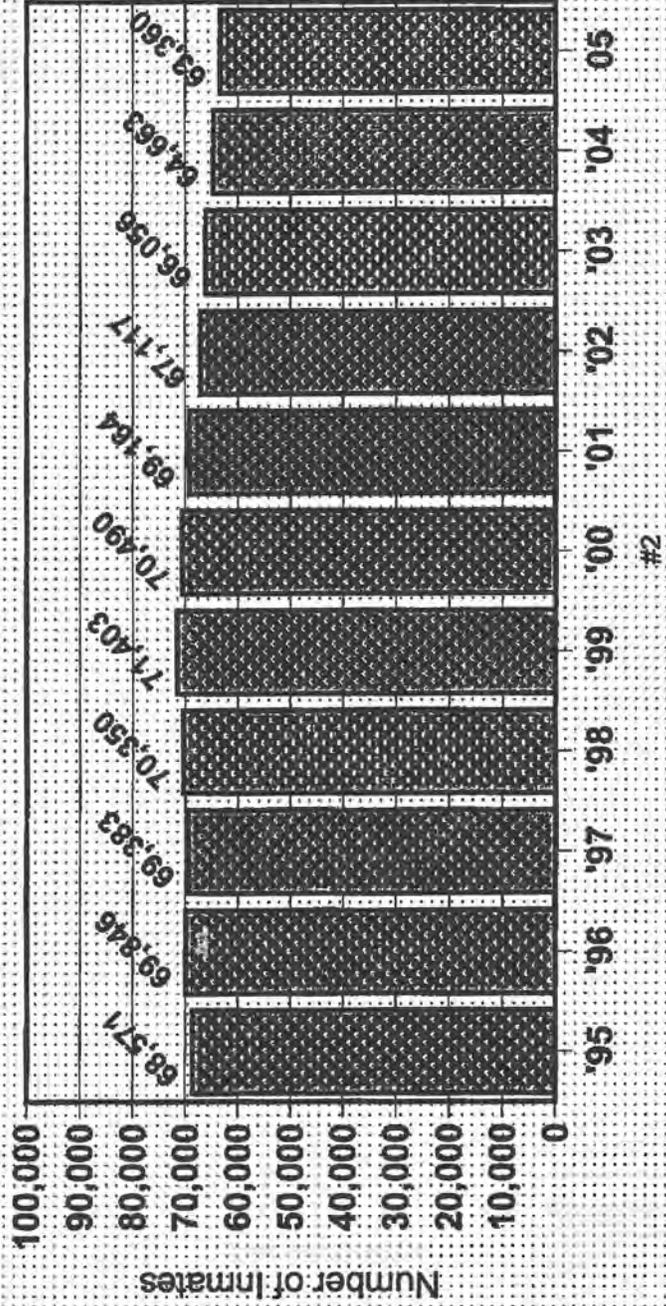

A total of 25,301 grievances were processed at the Superintendent's level in 2005. This reflects a decrease of 235 grievances, or a 0.9 % decrease, from the 25,536 grievances addressed by the Superintendent in 2004. The 2005 figures indicate 55.8% of all grievances filed were processed at the Superintendent's level (refer to graphs #7 and #8).

The total number of grievances resolved/closed at the facility level was 30,223 or 66.7% of all grievances filed. This reflects an increase of 2,570 grievances from the 29,213 grievances closed at the facility level in 2004. For clarification, the number of grievances closed at the facility level has been computed by subtracting the number of grievances heard at CORC from the total number of grievances filed (refer to graphs #9 and #10).

As of February 1, 1994, any grievances related to allegations of Directive #4910, Control of & Search for Contraband, violations during a strip search/strip frisk were reported on the Code Classification Sheet in Codes 25.1 for Strip Search and 25.2 for Strip Frisk. The strip search and strip frisk grievances were carried on the clerk's log and supplemental sheets in the same manner as all other grievances. In 2005, the number of grievances under Code 25.1 (13-Strip Search) and 25.2 (34-Strip Frisk) totaled 47. This compares to 58 in 2004, 49 in 2003, 65 in 2002, 82 in 2001, 72 in 2000, 74 in 1999, 74 in 1998, 78 in 1997, 82 in 1996 and 86 in 1995.

Beginning in September 1999, grievances related to Native Americans were to be monitored for two years. These grievances have "Native American" in the title and were reported monthly. Through 2000, there were 54 grievances in reference to Native Americans reported. In 2001, there were 50 grievances in this category. Through July 2002, an additional 21 Native American grievances were reported. Although, still tracked in the same manner with the use of the title, subsequent reports have not been requested since July 2002.

A category regarding the Department's Smoke Free Policy was added to the Code Classification Sheet in 1999 as Code 23.1. There were 41 grievances filed in this category in 2005, as compared to 84 in 2004, 53 in 2003, 64 in 2002, 124 in 2001 and 158 in 2000.

Effective July 2000, any grievances related to allegations of pat frisks of female inmates were reported on the Code Classification Sheet under Code 25.3, Pat Frisk (Female Inmates). In the last six months of 2000, there were 3 grievances filed in this category. This total increased to 7 in 2001, 5 in 2002, 11 in 2003 and 7 in 2004. In 2005, there were 9 grievances reported.

In 2004, any grievances related to the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) were filed in a new category as Code 22.1. There were 206 grievances filed in this category that year. In 2005, there were 170 grievances filed under Code 22.1, a decrease of 36 grievances.

III. IGP STAFF

Central Office staff made approximately 37 facility visits during 2005. Inmate Grievance Central Office staff conducted orientation/training sessions for 568 Training Academy Correctional Officer recruits, and 27 Sergeants in the Training Academy Sergeant's School. In addition to regularly scheduled weekly CORC meetings, IGP Central Office staff attended 33 meetings, conferences, ceremonies, training/meetings and various events.

During 2005, 10 facility staff transitions occurred due to reassignment, promotion and resignations. There were 4 Central Office staff transitions due to lateral transfer or promotion. All Inmate Grievance Programs that had staff transitions during 2005 received assistance from the regional program coordinators or other facility staff in order to help maintain the programs until replacement of staff was accomplished.

In 2005, staff transitions occurred at the following facilities:

Albion C.F. - The IGP Supervisor transferred to Gowanda C.F. in December 2005. The item was vacant at the end of the year.

Cayuga C.F. - The IGP Supervisor took a lateral transfer to Central Office in July 2005. An IGP Supervisor was hired to fill the vacancy through a lateral transfer from Five Points C.F. in September 2005.

Coxsackie C.F. - The IGP Supervisor position took a lateral transfer to Central Office in May 2005. The item was filled through the Civil Service list in September 2005.

Elmira C.F. - The IGP Supervisor took a lateral transfer to Watertown C.F. in December 2005. The item was vacant at the end of the year.

Five Points C.F. - The IGP Supervisor took a lateral transfer to Cayuga C.F. in September 2005. The IGP Supervisor position was filled through the Civil Service list in December 2005.

Green Haven C.F. - The IGP Supervisor resigned from the department in March 2005 and the item was filled in August 2005 through the Civil Service list.

Gowanda C.F. - The IGP Supervisor took a position as a Corrections Counselor and the IGP Supervisor from Albion C.F. took a lateral transfer to this facility in December 2005.

Mid-State C.F. - The IGP Supervisor took a position as a Corrections Counselor and the position was filled in November 2005 when the Central Office IGP Supervisor took a lateral transfer to this facility.

Oneida C.F. - The IGP Supervisor took a position as a Correction Counselor in March 5, 2005. The IGP Supervisor position was filled through the Civil Service list in December 2005.

Watertown C.F. - The IGP Supervisor retired in August 2005 and the Elmira IGP Supervisor took a lateral transfer in December 2005.

In 2005, the following staff transitions occurred in Central Office as follows:

April - An IGP Supervisor transferred to Mid-State Correctional Facility
An IGP Coordinator was promoted to Institutional Steward at Hudson Correctional Facility. A facility IGP Supervisor took a lateral transfer to the vacant IGP Supervisor position in Central Office.

July - The Cayuga IGP Supervisor was promoted to an IGP Coordinator in Central Office.

November - An IGP Coordinator resigned from the department and accepted a position within another agency.

December - A Keyboard Specialist I was promoted to a Clerk II in Central Office Health Services. A Central Office IGP Supervisor was promoted to an Inmate Grievance Coordinator in Central Office.

During 2005, Central Office staff responded to 3,335 letters from inmates, as well as correspondence from inmates' family and friends, compared to 3,207 in 2004. Central Office staff researched and copied grievance case materials for 57 Freedom of Information Law (FOIL) requests from various persons and agencies, the same as in 2004. Relevant to inmate litigation, Central Office staff researched and gathered grievance documents for 547 inquiries from the Attorney General's staff, up from the 394 in 2004.

IV. Central Office Review Committee (CORC)

The CORC is the final appellate level of the Inmate Grievance Program. The CORC consists of the Deputy Commissioner and Counsel, Deputy Commissioner for Correctional Facilities, Deputy Commissioner for Program Services, Deputy Commissioner for Administrative Services, and the Deputy Commissioner and Chief Medical Officer, or their designees expressly authorized to act for them. The CORC functions on behalf of the Commissioner and under his authority. The CORC decisions have the effect of directives.

The PLRA of 1995, amended 42 U.S.C. Section 1997e(a), requires that inmates must exhaust available administrative remedies before litigating over prison conditions. This has been a major factor in the increase in grievance appeals. In addition, there have been two United States Supreme Court decisions that have been a catalyst in this increase. On May 29, 2001, the court decided in Booth v. Churner that even if the administrative remedy does not provide monetary damages, it is still an available remedy. Subsequently, on February 26, 2002, the court, in Porter v. Nussle decided that exhaustion is required in every situation, regardless of the nature of the inmate's underlying claim.

Grievance appeals to CORC decreased from the 15,374 in 2004 to 15,122 in 2005. This reflects an decrease of 252 grievance appeals. The CORC addressed 9,548 grievance appeals in 1999, 10,527 in 2000, 11,754 in 2001, 12,395 in 2002 and 14,432 in 2003. Since 1999, the CORC has realized an annual increase of 5,574 grievance appeals, a 58.4% increase.

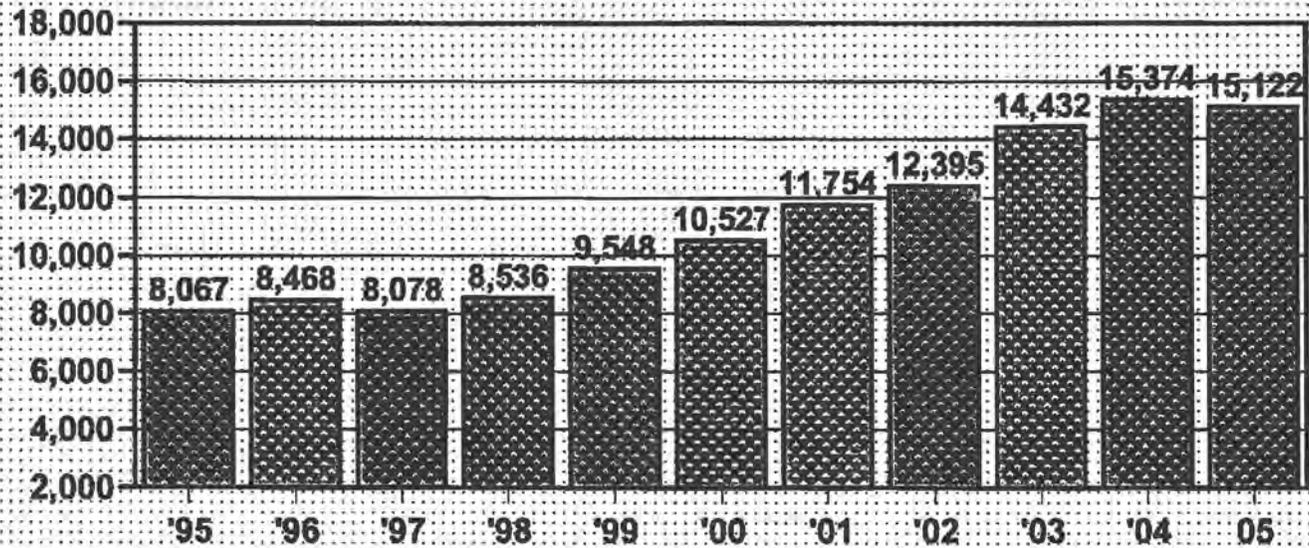

The number of the CORC responses to grievance appeals is affected by 'carry-overs' at the beginning (grievances filed in 2004 but received at the CORC in 2005) and the end (grievances filed in 2005 but answered by the CORC in 2006) of each year. The 15,122 total is the actual number of grievances answered by the CORC in 2005 (refer to graph #11).

Of the 15,122 grievances decided by the CORC in 2005, 5,047 or 33%, were determined to be meritorious or have merit in part. In 2004, 4,409 or 28.7% were found to be meritorious or have merit in part. The number of meritorious grievances in 2005 represents an increase of 638 grievances from that in 2004.

The CORC dispositions were transmitted back to the grievants in an average of 17.8 calendar days. This reflects a decrease from the 22.2 calendar day average in 2004.

The CORC dispositions were transmitted back to the grievants in an average of 57 calendar days from the date filed at the facility. This is a decrease of 11.1 calendar days from the calendar day average of 68.1 in 2004, and well within the 90 calendar day limit mandated by Title 28, Code of Federal Regulations and the Federal Certification.

V. GRIEVANCE TRENDS AND ANALYSIS

The 45,345 grievances filed in 2005 reflect an increase of 758 grievance submissions from the 44,587 grievances filed in 2004. Historically, Code 24, Special Housing Units, had been one of the most grieved areas. From 1993 until 1998, it was not ranked among the five highest categories. Since 1998, the five most grieved categories in order of rank have been Staff Conduct, Medical, Housing-Internal Block Affairs, Package Room and Special Housing Units. The grievances filed from the S-Blocks, Southport C.F. and Upstate C.F. had an impact on each of these categories and are the primary reason the Special Housing Units code remains in the top 5 categories.

However, in 2002, Code 49, Staff Conduct, and Code 22, Medical, reversed positions with Code 22, Medical, becoming the lead category. The trends and analysis in each category continue to be consistent with prior years except for the increase in the number of medical grievances as explained below.

1. CODE 22, MEDICAL

In 2005, the number of medical grievances filed was 8,303 compared to the 8,360 filed in 2004, a decrease of 57 or .68%. Medical grievances accounted for 18.3% of all grievances filed, compared to the 18.08% filed in 2004, a decrease of .22 %.

The grievances can be attributed to the inmates who regularly file numerous medical complaints for real or perceived medical problems, and do so at any facility in which they are housed. Thus, many of the issues presented remain constant in this category. It is believed that some medical grievances are filed in order to create a record of the grievant's request for medical attention or in an attempt to enhance medical treatment. There are grievances filed where the requested action is cited as a health concern, even though the request may be non-medical in nature. There has been no impact on this category by HIPAA, as evidenced by the decrease in Code 22.1 grievances from the 206 grievances in 2004 to the 170 in 2005.

In some cases, prolific grievants are seriously ill and the number of grievances they file often demonstrate anxiety. Many complain of chronic back pain, arthritis, etc. The anxiety results in grievances because of the time taken to accomplish an outside consult or appointment. This analysis is validated by the repetition in the composition of the complaints. Another factor is the perception on the part of inmates that recommendations made by outside consultants must be implemented without question, when in reality the Facility Health Services Directors evaluate the recommendation and determine the treatment plan for inmates under their care.

Further, an inmate's expectation of specific treatment plans and desired medical services often does not fall within the realm of possibility, nor are they medically indicated by facility doctors. Requests for specialty consultants such as dermatologists, podiatrists, ophthalmologists, allergists, neurologists and various others are common. Requests for medical procedures which are not in accordance with the medical provider's policy or the Department's Health Services Manual, and are not ordered by the Facility Health Services Director, account for some of the medical complaints.

In some grievances, a medical condition is cited as the reason for requesting items that are issued on medical order only. These requests are for items such as bed boards, orthopedic shoes, eyeglasses, nutritional supplements, Visine, skin creams, pain medications, medicated shampoos and vitamins. Other examples of special medical requests are single cells, lower bunks, additional showers, special diets, medical appliances and boxer shorts.

In some instances, the medical condition cited by the inmate does not exist according to that inmate's medical record, nor is it a condition already being addressed by the facility health staff. Access to outside health providers is also a factor in the number of medical grievances. The combination of perceived illness and actual illness within the inmate population is expected to continue to account for a portion of the number of medical complaints.

The S-Block, Upstate C.F. and Southport C.F. inmates do not come out of their cells except for visits, disciplinary hearings and if the facility doctor determines it is necessary for a medical examination. These inmates feel they should come out for all medical contacts due to privacy concerns.

An increase in the number of wheelchair inmates brought Americans with Disability Act (ADA) issues such as supplies, higher bed, catheters, outside trips, replacement wheelchairs and aides.

The description of grievances in the medical category is intended to demonstrate the variety of complaints received and is not a complete list of medical grievances.

2. CODE 49, STAFF CONDUCT

In 2005, the number of staff conduct grievances filed was 7,116 compared to the 7,439 filed in 2004, a decrease of 323 grievances or 4.34%. The staff conduct grievances accounted for 15.7% of all grievances filed compared to the 16.07% filed in 2004.

A significant number of staff conduct grievances continues to be attributed to inmate interaction with staff resulting in misbehavior reports. The perception among staff is that some of the harassment complaints resulting from interaction between employees and inmates are filed by the inmates in an attempt to discredit misbehavior reports written by staff and to recover the $5.00 surcharge imposed on inmates for affirmed misbehavior reports. A January 1992 revision of Title 7, NYCRR authorizes the surcharge.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, has remained in the five most grieved categories due to the wide range of issues that could be perceived and presented by inmates as inappropriate staff conduct or harassment. A review of Code 49 grievance titles substantiates that "Staff Conduct" numbers are inflated by inmate perception, any difference of opinion with staff and an inmate's unfamiliarity with facility policies or statewide rules.

For example, direct orders are commonly seen as a form of harassment as noted in the description of events in grievances submitted in this code. An inmate's failure to follow procedures may result in the loss of an opportunity to participate in an activity or to exercise an option. An example of this is when an inmate neglects to respond to announcements concerning the commencement of certain activities or the preparation of a list by staff of inmates who wish to participate in an upcoming activity. This results in the inmate's inability to participate and consequently, the filing of grievances due to the perception of unfair treatment or that staff could have made an exception. The logistics involved in coordinating the activities and movement of large groups of people have not traditionally been readily appreciated by an inmate who files this type of complaint, since the result of such consideration would not support strict adherence to rules governing callouts, attendance and movement.

The examples of grievances in the staff conduct category are intended to demonstrate the variety of complaints received and are not a complete list of staff conduct grievances.

3. CODE 23, HOUSING-INTERNAL BLOCK AFFAIRS

In 2005, the number of Housing-Internal Block Affairs grievances filed was 3,206 compared to 3,652 filed in 2004, a decrease of 446 grievances or 12.2%. The grievances in this code accounted for 7.1% of all grievances filed, compared to the 8.20% filed in 2004, a decrease of 1.1%.

Grievances in this code concern physical housing conditions/issues such as double cell, double bunk, cube space, air circulation/fans, furniture, hot water, heat, window screens and storage space.

Service related grievances include cell cleaning supplies, laundering of clothes and linen, winter blankets, list taking procedures, callout procedures, haircuts, in-cell feed up, maintenance of housing areas and repair of housing areas. Other grievances pertain to supplies, enforcement of cell standards, desired/undesired cell moves, honor block denials, denied items or service, cleanliness, pest control measures, removal from double bunk beds, staff performance of duties, distribution of personal mail, mailboxes, razor issue policy, bulletin boards, posting of memos, announcements over public address system, television cable and radio/television volume.

The noted issues in this category are intended to demonstrate the variety of complaints filed in Code 23; it is not a complete list of housing unit complaints.

4. CODE 30, PACKAGE ROOM

In 2005, the number of package room grievances filed was 2,360 compared to 2,027 filed in 2004, an increase of 333 grievances or 16.4%. Package room grievances accounted for 5.2% of all grievances filed, compared to the 4.5% filed in 2004, showing an increase of .7% in this code.

Many of the package room complaints result from a difference in security staff and inmate interpretation of Departmental Directive #4911, entitled "Packages & Articles Sent or Brought to Facilities". The governing directive describes items permitted to be received and the provisions thereof. The package room complaints have not substantially changed. The issues include hot pots, typewriters, watches, sneakers, food items and musical instruments. In August 2005, the Package Room Directive #4911, was revised and streamlined. Facilities reported package room grievances challenging the new policies and procedures of the new directive. However, it is expected that the revision will provide a more clear clarification and interpretation of the items allowed through the package room.

Other issues still focus around an inmate's desire for items not allowed by directive because they are too valuable and present security concerns, and do not conform to size limitations. Other issues include permitted items that do not conform to other requirements of the package room directive, such as packaging for food products, colors of clothing/ undergarments/linens, the opening of package items to be searched and items that require approval of the Superintendent for receipt via special permit.

As in past years, the technological advancement in the design and variety of some allowable items results in their denial, since the item is essentially changed and does not conform to package room guidelines.

Package Room grievances were also affected by the S-Block and Upstate C.F. inmates as a result of their movement from a maximum security keeplock situation to an S-Block or Upstate C.F. The inmate, although not on a loss of packages disposition, falls under the Special Housing Unit (SHU) policies regarding the limitation of packages as outlined in Directive #4933.

The resulting desire for products unacceptable for receipt via the package room impacts the number of grievances filed in this category.

5. CODE 24, SPECIAL HOUSING UNITS

In 2005, the number of SHU grievances filed was 1,826 compared to 1,511 filed in 2004. This is an increase of 315 grievances or 20.8%. SHU accounted for 4.0% of all grievances filed, compared to 3.4% in 2004, an increase of .6%.

Grievance submissions from the S-Blocks are up 260 from 2004. Upstate C.F. and Southport C.F. combined showed a decrease of 173 grievance submissions from 2004. Some inmates transferred to these units were coming from maximum security facilities where they were in keeplock status in a general population cell. As a condition of confinement, the inmates must follow the SHU policies consistent with Directive #4933, which limits property in the cell, visits, packages, inmate contact, etc. Therefore, they grieve all aspects of the SHU policies.

Many of these aspects include smoking policy, cell cleanup, Progressive Inmate Movement System (PIMS) level issues, food issues and library materials.

The grievances in this category deal with SHU issues and do not reflect the actual number of grievances filed from SHU.

Code 3, Correspondence, had 132 grievances in 2005, an increase from the 56 last year. The grievance issues regarded the untimely processing of mail, missing mail and magazines, opening of outgoing mail, and status of certified return receipts. The increase is attributed to staffing issues which resulted in a back log of correspondence. Staff were assigned to relieve this backlog.

Code 22, Medical, had 421 grievances in 2005, an increase from the 294 last year. The increase is being attributed to changes in sick call procedures, and less informal resolution. Grievance issues included change of provider, medication refill policy, access to specialists, Milburn Consent Decree, and course of treatment. The facility has changed its medication refill procedure and delivery of in cell items to reduce the complaints associated with medication refills.

Code 23, Housing-Internal Block Affairs, had 226 grievances in 2005, an increase from the 147 last year. Grievance issues included double-celling, block Policy & Procedure, access to showers, and call out procedures.

Code 30, Package Room, had 322 grievances in 2005, an increase from the 252 last year. Grievance issues included denial of sneakers, boots, radios, clothing (due to colors, logos, and materials), missing packages, untimely processing, shipping charges, art supplies, keyboards, destruction of property, opening of items, and completion of disposal forms. The new Directive #4911 may have had some impact on the grievances filed in this category, with a slight increase noted after the directive was issued. In addition, it is noted that the facility has redesigned the package room processing area and obtained additional staff to improve processing times for incoming and outgoing packages.

Code 34, State Issue, had 99 grievances filed in 2005, an increase from the 36 last year. This increase was attributed to staff vacancy in the state shop. Areas of concern primarily regarded being placed on a call out and receiving state issue. Other complaints were replacement of worn items, wanting new items (not serviceable condition), improper sizing, replacement of state boots. The vacancy has since been filled, however, the staff member was out on extended leave at the end of the year.

Code 36, Inmate Accounts, had 142 grievances in 2005, an increase from the 77 last year. The increase is attributed to timeliness of processing disbursements and money orders which was caused in part by the back log of correspondence. Grievance issues included missing disbursements, mail receipts, interest payments, and disputes of encumbrances.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 289 grievances in 2005, an increase from the 230 last year. Grievance allegations included unprofessional conduct, retaliation, assault, food tampering, destruction of property during cell searches and inappropriate pat frisks.

ELMIRA HUB

Auburn Correctional Facility

There were 2,364 grievances filed in 2005, a decrease from the 2,700 last year.

Code 22, Medical, had 355 grievances filed in 2005, a decrease from the 474 last year. These grievances concerned quality of care, delays in receiving care, and medication. This decrease is due in part to improved staff-to-inmate communication and prompt responses to inmate letters by the Nurse Administrator.

Code 30, Package Room, had 109 grievances filed in 2005, an increase from the 60 last year. These grievances concerned disallowed items, disposal of disallowed items, and items missing from packages. There was a change in staffing in the Package Room resulting in inconsistent enforcement of Directive #4911.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 590 grievances filed in 2005, a decrease from 784 last year. These grievances alleged verbal, physical, and sexual abuse, as well as being denied privileges. This decrease appears directly related to the transfer of one inmate who accounted for 126 of the grievances filed in 2004.

Butler (Minimum) Correctional Facility

There were 35 grievance filed in 2005, a decrease from the 39 last year. It is also noted that 21 of these grievances were informally resolved prior to IGRC hearing.

Code 22, Medical, had 253 grievances in 2005, an increase from the 141 last year. These grievances concerned quality of care, treatment, requests to see a specialist, medication, sick call, permits, and medical boots. The increase may be attributed to staffing issues, as the pharmacist item was vacant most of the year, and nurses and doctors were from temporary agencies and were not familiar with DOCS policy and procedure.

Code 30, Package Room, had 77 grievances in 2005, an increase from the 58 last year. These grievances concerned denial of a sergeant's review, items being denied, items missing and mailing items. It is noted that this category reflected an increase in grievances prior to the revision of Directive 4911 in August, 2005. The increase in grievances is attributed to the facility developing a "pre-screening" area for officers to review visitor's packages and immediately return denied items to the visitors. The inmates were not afforded a sergeant's review of the denied items, as they did not enter the package room. Subsequently, the "pre-screening area" policy was terminated.

Code 35, Commissary, had 8 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 34 last year. These grievances concerned a request to lower prices, sell bread, refund the commissary buy, restock Sensodyne toothpaste, raise buy limit to include photo tickets, service dialysis patients first at commissary, and raise the buy limit.

There were 1,805 grievances filed 2005, a decrease from the 1,860 last year.

Code 2, Incentive Wage, had 19 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 30 last year. These grievances concerned pay grade raises, back pay and compensation for additional work.

Code 22, Medical, had 222 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 236 last year. Grievances in this code have decreased for the third straight year in a row. The facility is still attempting to recruit a Facility Health Services Director. These grievances concern medications, the length of time it takes to see outside specialists, requests for facility doctor appointments, discrimination, requests for diagnostic testing, questions regarding the doctors determinations, and allegations of mistreatment by medical staff.

Code 24, Special Housing Unit, had 88 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 106 last year. General maintenance such as heaters, paint and new windows partially account for the decline in this code. These grievances concerned the provision of services, supplies, showers and exercise.

Code 30, Package Room, had 65 grievances in 2005, the same as last year. The changes to Directive #4911 have not appeared to make an impact upon this code. These grievances concerned the receipt of packages, disallowed items, lost items and disposal of property.

Code 35, Commissary, had 71 grievances in 2005, an increase from the 23 last year. These grievances concern out of stock items, overcharges, charged for items not received and payroll not posted to inmate accounts in time for commissary purchases.

Code 36, Inmate Accounts, had 82 grievances in 2005, an increase from the 58 last year. These grievances concerned encumbrances on inmate accounts, processing issues and policies and procedures of the business office.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 192 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 237 last year. These grievances concerned allegations of physical assault, verbal abuse, sexual harassment, discrimination and threats.

Buffalo Correctional Facility

There were 2 grievances filed in 2005, an increase from the 1 last year.

Collins Correctional Facility

There were 853 grievances filed in 2005, an increase from the 827 last year.

Code 18, Media Review, had 4 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 28 last year. These grievances concerned the processing of magazines and were all filed from the S-Block.

Code 22, Medical, had 229 grievances in 2005, an increase from the 148 last year. These grievances concerned quality of care, delay in care, medical procedures, medication, outside consult requests and HIPAA.

Code 27, Tier I & II Policy and Procedure, had 30 grievances in 2005, an increase from the 13 last year. The majority of these grievances were from the S-Block and challenged the hearing process.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 46 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 66 last year. These grievances alleged threats, verbal abuse, physical contact, and improper staff behavior.

Gowanda Correctional Facility

There were 956 grievances filed in 2005, a decrease from the 1,271 last year.

Code 6, Guidance Unit/Counseling, had 65 grievances in 2005, an increase from the 46 last year. The increase reflects changes in coding in that Sex Offender Program grievances were coded in this category instead of a Code 50, Miscellaneous, as in 2004. It is noted that the facility has indicated an overall decrease in sex offender related grievances as the SOP program operated continuously this year without the interruptions and suspension of the program, as in 2004. These grievances concerned program evaluations, the identification of program needs based on counselor's assessments, and program removals.

Code 21, Dental, had 7 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 23 last year. These grievances concerned quality of care and delays in care. It is noted by the facility that the decrease in this code is a result of hiring a second Dentist, decreasing those grievances alleging delays in care.

Code 22, Medical, had 60 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 108 last year. This decrease appears to be as a result of the return of the Nurse Practitioner who was out on extended leave and the reopening of the pharmacy with new staff. These grievances concerned medications, quality of care and requests for specialist consultations

Code 27, Tier I & II Policy and Procedure, had 42 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 61 last year. This is unexpected as the total number of Tier II misbehavior reports increased by approximately 200 from last year. These grievances concerned hearing procedures, biased proceedings and appeals.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 214 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 270 last year. The grievances alleged threats, verbal abuse, discriminatory remarks/treatment, retaliation, unprofessional searches and physical abuse.

Groveland Correctional Facility

There were 267 grievances filed in 2005, a decrease from 297 last year.

Code 30, Package Room, had 13 grievances in 2005, an increase from the 9 last year. These grievances concerned disallowed and missing items.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 80 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 108 last year. These grievances concerned allegations of verbal harassment, physical assault, threats, discrimination and sexual harassment.

Lakeview Shock Incarceration Facility

There were 837 grievances filed in 2005, an increase from the 750 last year.

Code 22, Medical, had 138 grievances in 2005, an increase from the 117 last year. These grievances concerned requests to see specialists, delays in care, medications, medical permits and sick call requests.

Code 23, Housing-Internal Block Affairs, had 139 grievances in 2005, an increase from the 48 last year. The facility IGP Supervisor has stated that grievances regarding the 30 day bin exchanges and showers have increased without cause. It is noted that the 2004 Annual Report does not identify showers and bin exchanges as frequently grieved topics. Additionally, it is noted that the codes for General Library, Inmate Property, State Issue Items, and Laundry have collectively decreased in 2005. This decrease accounts for 62 grievances that may have otherwise been coded in this category.

Livingston Correctional Facility

There were 386 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 454 filed last year.

Code 24, Special Housing Units, had 1 grievance in 2005, a decrease from the 10 last year. This grievance concerned the announcement of rounds. The decrease is attributed to changes in coding interpretation and classification by the new IGP Supervisor. Grievances that may have been coded Special Housing Unit previously were more accurately coded as Correspondence, Recreation, Mess hall, Commissary and Inmate Accounts.

Code 30, Package Room, had 12 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 23 last year. The decrease in this code can best be attributed to a willingness of Package Room staff to seek advice concerning questionable items in light of the revision to Directive #4911. These grievances concerned allegations of missing items, Package Room operations and improperly disallowed items by staff.

Orleans Correctional Facility

There were 500 grievances filed in 2005, a decrease from the 542 filed last year.

Code 22, Medical, had 65 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 100 last year. These grievances concerned medication issues, delays in care and specialists consultations.

Code 23, Housing-Internal Block Affairs, had 39 grievances in 2005, an increase from the 23 last year. The majority of these grievances concerned the reconstruction of the dorm showers and bathrooms which seems to account for the increase in activity for this code. The repairs took approximately 2 to 3 weeks per dorm. Other grievances concerned unit policy and procedures, the honor dorm and closed recreation areas.

Code 30, Package Room, had 32 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 37 last year. These grievances concerned delays in processing packages, disallowed item, policy regarding the receipt of packages after visits, and allegations of lost packages. The revision of Directive #4911 does not appear to have affected the number of grievances.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 88 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 100 last year. These grievances concerned alleged verbal harassment and threats, sexual harassment, discrimination, assaults, racial discrimination and incompetence.

Rochester Correctional Facility

There were 2 grievances filed in 2005, a decrease from the 4 last year.

Wende Correctional Facility

There were 1,579 grievances filed in 2005, a decrease from the 1,962 last year.

Code 22, Medical, had 329 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 361 last year. These grievances concerned challenges to medical care, treatment, medication prescriptions, special diet requests, delays in treatment, medical permits and specialist consultations.

Code 23, Housing - Internal Block Affairs, had 118 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 250 last year. These grievances concerned recreation, showers, meals, call outs, phone calls and hair cuts. The decrease may be attributed to the informal resolution of such issues by unit staff.

Code 30, Package Room, had 65 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 99 last year. These grievances concerned challenges to the recent revision of Directive #4911, the applicability of prior CORC decisions, disallowed items, lost or damaged items and interpretations of the revised directive by staff.

Code 37, Mess Hall, had 48 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 82 last year. These grievances concerned food temperatures, quality, quantity, diets and feed up trays.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 241 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 294 last year. These grievances concerned allegations of harassment, assault, threats, verbal abuse, discrimination and retaliation.

Wyoming Correctional Facility

There were 379 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 443 last year.

Code 22, Medical, had 72 grievances in 2005, a decrease from the 86 last year. These grievances concerned requests for prompt treatment, treatment from outside specialists, medication and medical permits.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 85 grievances in 2005, the same as last year. Grievances concerned allegations of verbal harassment, threats, profanity and misconduct.
