INMATE GRIEVANCE PROGRAM ANNUAL REPORT 2010

I. INTRODUCTION

The Inmate Grievance Program (IGP) functions under Departmental Directive #4040 entitled "Inmate Grievance Program" and Departmental Directive #4041 entitled "Inmate Grievance Program Modification Plan" and is established by the statutory mandates of Section 139 NYS Correction Law and N.Y.C.R.R., Title 7, Part 701.

The Inmate Grievance Program provides each inmate an orderly, fair, simple and expeditious method of resolving grievances pursuant to Section 139, NYS Correction Law. This grievance program includes procedures for inmates to resolve allegations of discriminatory treatment in accordance with the State Commission of Correction regulation 9 NYCRR Part 7695. Grievances filed prior to July 7, 1990 were reviewed by the NYS Commission of Correction and responded to by the Commissioner. Correction Law 139 was amended by Chapter 373 of the Laws of 1990 deleting the requirement that the Commission of Correction review individual grievances, yet required the Commission of Correction to review and assess the grievance process on an annual basis. The elimination of the advisory step ensures that the grievance process is more expeditious while at the same time allows the Commission of Correction to provide oversight.

On September 28, 1992, the U. S. Department of Justice, Office of the Associate Attorney General, pursuant to the authority conferred by Title 42, United States Code, Section 1997e and Part 40 of Title 28, Code of Federal Regulations granted full certification that the NYS Department of Correctional Services Inmate Grievance Program is in substantial compliance with the standards set forth in Part 40 of Title 28, Code of Federal Regulations. Based on this certification, the court may order that prior to litigating claims under 42 U.S.C. Section 1983, New York State inmates shall exhaust any remedies they have with respect to the claim through the Inmate Grievance Program. For the purpose of this order, the disposition of the Central Office Review Committee (CORC) constitutes sufficient proof of exhaustion. In 1996, the federal government passed the Prisoner's Litigation Reform Act (PLRA) which enacted the same requirement for all inmates.

On May 29, 2001, the United States Supreme Court decision in Booth v. Churner required that prisoners exhaust their administrative remedies before bringing damage lawsuits in federal court even if the administrative remedy does not provide damages. Subsequently, on February 26, 2002, the United States Supreme Court decision in Porter v. Nussle held that the exhaustion requirement applies to all inmate suits about prison life, whether they involve general circumstances or particular episodes and whether they allege excessive force or some other wrong. These decisions, along with the PLRA have had an impact on the number of grievances being appealed to CORC. The impact is addressed in Part IV of this report.

After an extensive review, the revision of Directive #4040 was issued on July 12, 2006. This revision included changes such as increases in the time frames at all levels, including the filing of the grievance by the inmate. In addition, the processing of grievances after transfer was revised to allow the inmate to determine if he/she wished to appeal the decision. Also, a new section of the directive was established to describe procedures already in place for the processing of Strip Search/Strip Frisk grievances. The purpose of these revisions was to ensure that the IGP remains an orderly, fair, simple and expeditious method of resolving grievances and, at the same time, remains in compliance with the standards set forth in Part 40 of Title 28, Code of Federal Regulations and the Federal Certification.

The New York State Department of Correctional Services and the New York State Division of Parole were merged in April 2011 to form the New York State Department of Corrections and Community Supervision. This merger is intended to create a more seamless and comprehensive operation.

II. STATISTICAL ANALYSIS OF IGP WORKLOAD

There were 35,600 grievances filed in 2010, a decrease from the 37,557 filed in 2009. This is a decrease of 1,957 grievances as compared to the decrease of 5,530 grievances last year. Over the past nine years there have been fluctuations in the numbers of grievances filed, from a high of 46,529 in 2007, to the current low of 35,600 in 2010. The trend by inmates to file a grievance to exhaust their administrative remedies by appealing to CORC has continued.

This 2010 total of 35,600 represents a 5.2% decrease from 2009, (refer to Chart #5) while the average inmate population decreased by 3.8% from 59,471 in 2009 to 57,182 in 2010.

During 2010, IGP field staff recorded approximately 20,635 non-calendared inmate contacts, clarifying issues and enabling inmates to resolve problems without submitting a formal grievance. This is a decrease of 3,921 from the 24,556 in 2009.

There were 3,614 grievances or 10% of the total filed, that were informally resolved by the Inmate Grievance Resolution Committee (IGRC) in 2010, a decrease from the 3,729 grievances or 10% of the total filed last year (refer to Chart #1). This is a decrease of 115 informal resolutions, or 3%.

There was a statewide total of 25,016 IGRC hearings in 2010 or 70% of the total filed, a decrease from the 26,548 or 71% of the total filed last year (refer to Chart #2). This is a decrease of 1,532 or 6%, and is consistent with the total decreases of grievances filed statewide and informally resolved.

In 2010, there were 1,499 grievances dismissed and closed by the IGRC, a decrease from the 1,844 last year. This represents 4% of all grievances filed, a decrease from the 5% last year.

There were 20,832 grievances responded to at the Superintendent's level in 2010 or 58.5% of the total grievances filed, a decrease from the 21,732 grievances or 58% of the total filed last year (refer to Chart #4). This represents a 4.2% decrease from last year.

There were 23,181 grievances or 65% of the grievances filed that were resolved/ closed at the facility level, a decrease from the 24,402 grievances or 65% of the total filed last year (refer to Chart #3). This reflects a decrease of 1,221. For clarification, the number of grievances closed at the facility level has been computed by subtracting the number of grievances heard at CORC from the total number of grievances filed.

As of February 1, 1994, any grievances alleging violations of Directive #4910, Control of & Search for Contraband, during a strip search/strip frisk are reported on the Code Classification Sheet in Codes 25.1 for Strip Search and 25.2 for Strip Frisk. The strip search and strip frisk grievances are carried on the clerk's log and supplemental sheets in the same manner as all other grievances. There were 29 Code 25.1 (Strip Search) and 25.2 (Strip Frisk) grievances in 2010, a decrease from the 31 in 2009. This compares to 31 in 2008, 41 in 2007, 54 in 2006, 47 in 2005, 58 in 2004, 49 in 2003, 65 in 2002, 82 in 2001, 72 in 2000, 74 in 1999, 74 in 1998, 78 in 1997, 82 in 1996, and 86 in 1995.

Beginning in September 1999, grievances related to Native American issues were to be monitored for two years. These grievances have "Native American" in the title and were reported monthly. Through 2000 there were 54 grievances regarding Native American issues reported. In 2001 there were 50 grievances in this category. Through July 2002 an additional 21 Native American grievances were reported. Although still tracked using the title, subsequent reports have not been requested since July 2002.

In 1999, Code 23.1 was created to account for grievances filed regarding the Department's Smoke Free Policy. There were 49 grievances filed in 2010, an increase from the 22 last year. There were 51 grievances filed in 2008, 51 in 2007, 37 in 2006, 41 in 2005, 84 in 2004, 53 in 2003, 64 in 2002, 124 in 2001, and 158 in 2000.

Effective July 2000, Code 25.3 was created to account for any grievances regarding pat frisks of female inmates. In the last six months of 2000, there were 3 grievances filed in this category. A total of 7 was reported in 2001, 5 in 2002, 11 in 2003, 7 in 2004, 9 in 2005, 3 in 2006, 9 in 2007, 6 in 2008, and 17 in 2009. In 2010, there were 7 grievances filed.

In 2004, Code 22.1 was created to account for any grievances related to the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA). There were 178 grievances filed in 2010, an increase from the 137 last year. There were 206 grievances filed in 2004, 170 in 2005, 152 in 2006, 196 in 2007, and 138 in 2008.

III. IGP STAFF

Inmate Grievance Program (IGP) Central Office staff made approximately 1 facility visit during 2010, a decrease from the 20 last year. The decrease is attributed to fiscal constraints. IGP Central Office staff also conducted orientation/training sessions for 797 Correctional Officer recruits, and 68 Sergeants at the Training Academy. In addition to regularly scheduled weekly CORC meetings, IGP Central Office staff conducted training for Regional Health Services staff.

During 2010, 9 facility staff transitions occurred due to reassignment, promotion and resignations. There were 7 IGP Central Office staff transitions due to lateral transfers or promotion. All facility Inmate Grievance Programs that had staff transitions during 2010 received assistance from the Regional Coordinators.

In 2010, the following staff transitions occurred in Central Office as follows:

April- The Assistant Director was appointed.

May- A Central Office IGP Supervisor transferred to a facility

June-The Clerk II left State Service.

August- A facility IGP Supervisor laterally transferred to Central Office.

September- A Central Office IGP Supervisor was promoted to an IGP Regional Coordinator in Central Office.

October- A Secretary I and Clerk II were hired.

IGP Central Office staff responded to 3,073 letters from inmates, family and friends in 2010, an increase from the 2,503 last year. IGP Central Office staff researched and copied grievance case materials for 50 Freedom of Information Law (FOIL) requests from various persons and agencies, a decrease from the 64 last year. Relevant to inmate litigation, IGP Central Office staff also researched and gathered grievance documents for 408 inquiries from the Attorney General's staff, a decrease from the 482 last year.

IV. Central Office Review Committee (CORC)

The CORC is the final appellate level of the Inmate Grievance Program. The CORC consists of the Deputy Commissioner and Counsel, Deputy Commissioner for Correctional Facilities, Deputy Commissioner for Program Services, Deputy Commissioner for Administrative Services, and Deputy Commissioner and Chief Medical Officer, or their designees expressly authorized to act for them. A representative of the Office of Diversity Management will attend CORC hearings and have input on grievances alleging discrimination, but will not vote. The CORC functions on behalf of the Commissioner and under his authority. The CORC decisions have the effect of directives.

The PLRA of 1995, amended 42 U.S.C. Section 1997e (a), requires that inmates must exhaust available administrative remedies before litigating over prison conditions. This was initially a major factor in the increase in grievance appeals. In addition, there have been two United States Supreme Court decisions that were catalysts in the previous increase. On May 29, 2001, the court decided in Booth v. Churner that even if the administrative remedy does not provide monetary damages, it is still an available remedy. Subsequently, on February 26, 2002, the court in Porter v. Nussle decided that exhaustion is required in every situation, regardless of the nature of the inmate's underlying claim.

There were 12,419 grievance appeals to CORC, a decrease from the 13,155 last year. This reflects a decrease of 736 grievance appeals. The CORC addressed 9,548 grievance appeals in 1999, 10,527 in 2000, 11,754 in 2001, 12,395 in 2002, 14,432 in 2003, 15,374 in 2004, 15,122 in 2005, 14,531 in 2006, 15,506 in 2007, and 15,086 in 2008.

The number of CORC responses to grievance appeals is affected by 'carry-overs' at the beginning (grievances filed in 2009 but received at the CORC in 2010) and the end (grievances filed in 2010 but answered by the CORC in 2010) of each year. The 12,419 total is the actual number of grievances answered by the CORC in 2010 (refer to Chart #5).

Of the 12,419 grievances answered by the CORC in 2010, 5,824 or 47% were determined to be meritorious or have merit in part. In 2009, 5,035 or 38% were found to be meritorious or have merit in part. This represents an increase of 789 from 2009.

The CORC dispositions were transmitted back to the grievants in an average of 55 calendar days. This reflects an increase of 28.7 calendar days from the 26.3 calendar day average in 2009. This increase is attributed to staff shortages. The office was without an Assistant Director for 4 months, an IGP Coordinator for 5 months, an IGP Supervisor for 7 months, a Secretary I for 10 months, and a Clerk II for 4 months.

The CORC dispositions were transmitted back to the grievants in an average of 96.4 calendar days from the date filed at the facility. Therefore, it took an average of 32.6 calendar days longer to transmit responses from the date filed, in excess of the 90 calendar day limit established by Title 28, Code of Federal Regulations and the Federal Certification.

V. GRIEVANCE TRENDS AND ANALYSIS

There were 35,600 grievances filed in 2010, a decrease from the 37,557 last year or 1,957 less. Historically, Code 22, Medical, was one of the most grieved areas. Since 2001 the most grieved categories in order of rank have been Staff Conduct, Medical, Housing-Internal Block Affairs, Package Room and Special Housing Units. The grievances filed from the S-Blocks, Southport C.F. and Upstate C.F. had an impact on each of these categories and is the primary reason the Special Housing Units code remains in the top 5 categories.

However, in 2003, Staff Conduct and Medical reversed positions with Medical becoming the lead category. The trends and analysis in each category continue to be consistent with prior years except for the increase in the number of medical grievances, as explained below.

1. CODE 22, MEDICAL

There were 6,812 grievances filed in 2010, a decrease from the 7,281 last year or 469 less. These grievances accounted for 19.1% of all grievances filed, an increase of .3 % from the 18.8% last year.

The decrease in grievances is relative to the decrease in the average population. However, it is noted that the inmates who regularly file numerous medical complaints for real or perceived medical problems do so at any facility in which they are housed. Thus, many of the issues presented remain constant in this category. It is believed that some medical grievances are filed in order to create a record of the grievant's request for medical attention or in an attempt to enhance medical treatment. There are grievances filed where the requested action is cited as a health concern, even though the request may be non-medical in nature. There continues to be a mild impact on this category by HIPAA, Code 22.1, as evidenced by the 151 grievances filed in 2006, 196 in 2007, 138 in 2008, 137 in 2009 and 178 in 2010.

In some cases, prolific grievants are seriously ill and the numbers of grievances they file often demonstrate anxiety. Many complain of chronic illnesses such as back pain, arthritis, etc. The anxiety results in grievances because of the time frame involved in realizing an outside consult or appointment. This analysis is validated by the repetition in the composition of the complaints. Another factor is the perception on the part of inmates that recommendations made by outside consultants must be implemented without question, when in reality the Facility Health Services Directors as well as the Regional Medical Directors and managed care evaluate the recommendation and have input in the treatment plan.

Further, an inmate's expectation of specific treatment plans and desired medical services often does not fall within the realm of possibility, nor are they medically indicated by facility doctors. Requests for specialty consultants such as dermatologists, podiatrists, ophthalmologists, allergists, neurologists and various others are common. Requests for medical procedures which are not in accordance with the medical provider's policy or the Department's Health Services Policy Manual, and are not ordered by the Facility Health Services Director, account for some of the medical complaints.

In some grievances, a medical condition is cited as the reason for requesting items that are issued on medical order only such as bed boards, orthopedic shoes, eyeglasses, nutritional supplements, eye drops, skin creams, pain medications, medicated shampoos and vitamins. Other examples of special medical requests are single cells, bottom bunks, additional showers, special diets, medical appliances and boxer shorts.

In some instances, the medical condition cited by the inmate does not exist according to that inmate's medical record, nor is it a condition already being addressed by the facility health staff. Access to outside health providers is also a factor in the number of medical grievances. The combination of perceived illness and actual illness within the inmate population is expected to continue to account for a portion of the number of medical complaints.

The S-Block, Upstate C.F. and Southport C.F. inmates do not come out of their cells except for visits, disciplinary hearings and medical examinations, if deemed necessary by the facility doctor. These inmates feel they should come out for all medical contacts due to privacy concerns.

An increase in the number of wheelchair inmates brought Americans with Disability Act (ADA) issues such as supplies, higher bed, catheters, outside trips, replacement wheelchairs and aides.

The description of grievances in the medical category is intended to demonstrate the variety of complaints received and is not a complete list of medical grievances.

2. CODE 49, STAFF CONDUCT

There were 6,131 grievances filed in 2010, a decrease from the 6,491 last year or 360 less. These grievances accounted for 17.2% of all grievances filed, a decrease of .1% from the 17.3 % last year.

A significant number of staff conduct grievances continues to be attributed to inmate interaction with staff resulting in misbehavior reports. The perception among staff is that some of the harassment complaints resulting from interaction between employees and inmates are filed by the inmates in an attempt to discredit misbehavior reports written by staff and to recover the $5.00 surcharge imposed. A January 1992 revision of Title 7, NYCRR authorizes the surcharge.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, has remained in the five most grieved categories due to the wide range of issues that could be perceived and presented by inmates as inappropriate staff conduct or harassment. A review of the titles in this code substantiates that these types of grievances are inflated by inmate perception, any difference of opinion with staff and an inmate's unfamiliarity with facility policies or statewide rules.

For example, direct orders are commonly seen as a form of harassment as noted in the description of grievances submitted in this code. An inmate's failure to follow procedures may result in the loss of an opportunity to participate in an activity or to exercise an option. An example of this is when an inmate neglects to respond to announcements concerning the commencement of certain activities or the preparation of a list by staff of inmates who wish to participate in an upcoming activity. This results in the inmate's inability to participate and, consequently, the filing of grievances due to the perception of unfair treatment or that staff could have made an exception. The logistics involved in coordinating the activities and movement of large groups of people have not traditionally been readily appreciated by an inmate who files this type of complaint, since the result of such consideration would not support strict adherence to rules governing callouts, attendance and movement.

The examples of grievances in the staff conduct category are intended to demonstrate the variety of complaints received and are not a complete list of staff conduct grievances.

3. CODE 23, HOUSING-INTERNAL BLOCK AFFAIRS

There were 2,196 grievances filed in 2010, a decrease from the 2,301 last year or 105 less. These grievances accounted for 6.2% of all grievances filed, an increase of .1% from the 6.1% last year.

Grievances in this code concern physical housing conditions/issues such as double celling, double bunking, cube space, air circulation/fans, furniture, hot water, heat, window screens and storage space.

Service related grievances include cell cleaning supplies, laundering of clothes and linen, winter blankets, list taking procedures, callout procedures, haircuts, feed up meals, maintenance of housing areas and repair of housing areas. Other grievances pertain to supplies, enforcement of cell standards, desired/undesired cell moves, honor block denials, denial of items or services, cleanliness, pest control measures, removal from double bunk beds, staff performance of duties, distribution of personal mail, mailboxes, razor issue policy, bulletin boards, posting of memos, announcements over the public address system, television cable and radio/television volume.

The noted issues in this category are intended to demonstrate the variety of complaints filed in Code 23 and are not a complete list of housing unit complaints.

4. CODE 30, PACKAGE ROOM

There were 1,494 grievances filed in 2010, a decrease from the 1,615 filed last year or 121 less. These grievances accounted for 4.2% of all grievances filed, an increase of .2% from the 4% last year.

Many package room complaints result from a difference in security staff and inmate interpretation of Departmental Directive #4911, entitled "Packages & Articles Sent or Brought to Facilities". The directive describes items permitted to be received and the provisions thereof. The package room complaints have not substantially changed. The issues include hot pots, typewriters, watches, sneakers, food items and musical instruments. There were 4 revisions to Directive #4911, Packages & Articles Sent or Brought to Facilities in 2010, and it is expected that these revisions will provide more clarification and interpretation of the items allowed through the package room. Other issues still focus around an inmate's desire for items not allowed by directive because they are too valuable and present security concerns. Some items do not conform to the requirements of the directive, such as packaging for food products, colors of clothing/ undergarments/linens, the opening of package items to be searched and items that require approval of the Superintendent via special permit.

As in past years, the technological advancement in the design and variety of some allowable items results in their denial, since the item is essentially changed and may no longer conform to package room guidelines.

Package room grievances were also affected by the S-Block and Upstate C.F. immates as a result of their movement from a maximum security keeplock situation to an S-Block or Upstate C.F. The inmate, although not on a loss of packages disposition, falls under the Special Housing Unit (SHU) policies regarding the limitation of packages as outlined in Directive #4933.

The resulting desire for products unacceptable for receipt via the package room impacts the number of grievances filed in this category.

5. CODE 24, SPECIAL HOUSING UNITS

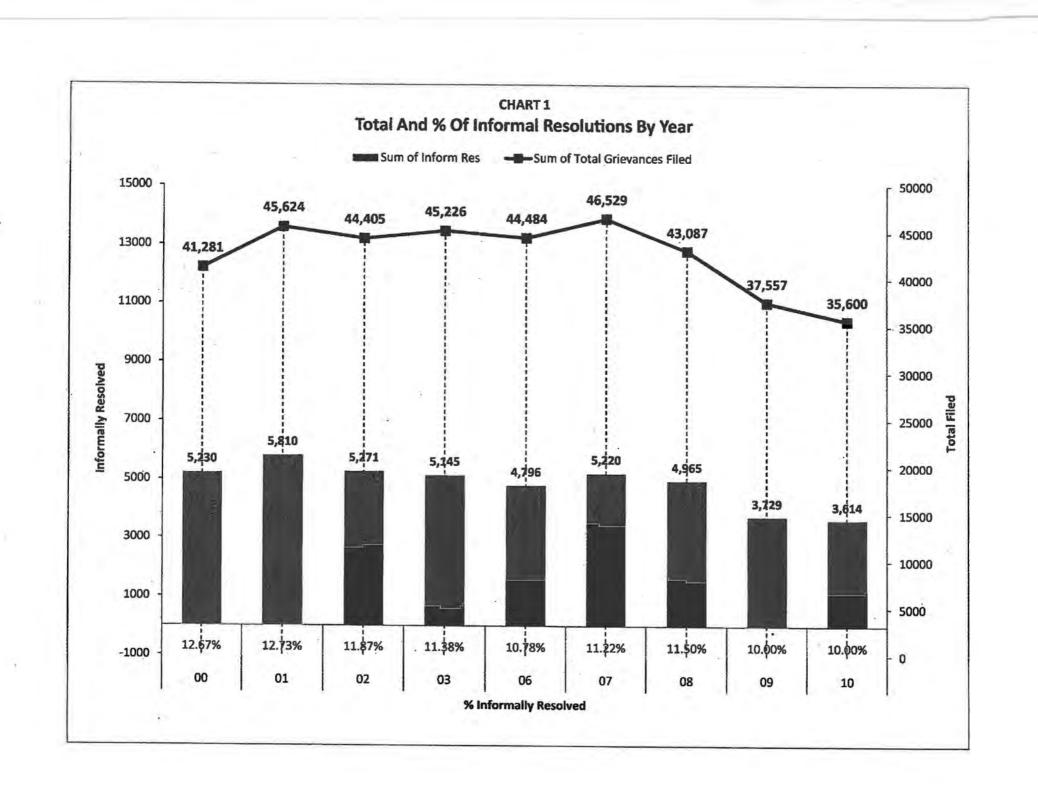

There were 1,627 grievances filed in 2010, an increase from the 1,422 last year or 205 more. These grievances accounted for 4.6% of all grievances filed, an increase of .8% from the 3.8% last year.

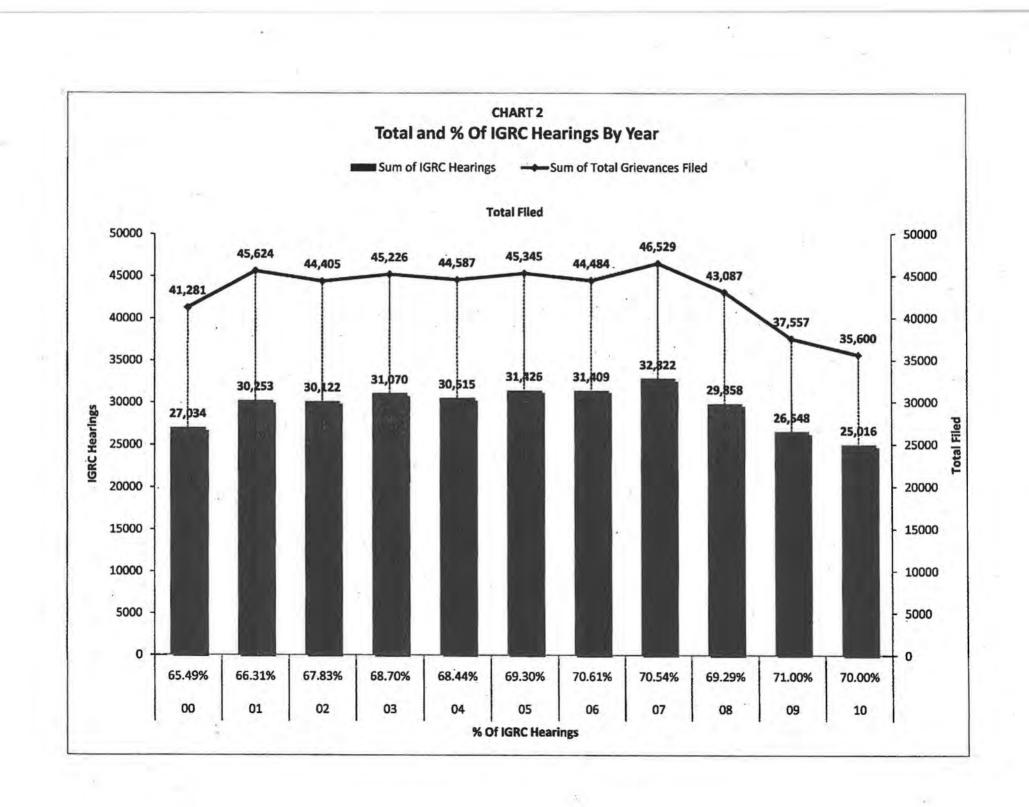

There were 2,365 grievances filed by S-Block inmates in 2010, 466 less than the 2,831 last year. Also, there were 5,601 grievances filed by inmates housed in the Upstate and Southport C.F. Special Housing Units in 2010, a decrease from the 6,035 last year or 434 less. Some of the inmates transferred to these units were from maximum security facilities where they were in keeplock status in a general population cell. As a condition of confinement, the inmates must follow the SHU policies consistent with Directive #4933, which limits property in the cell, visits, packages, inmate contact, etc. Therefore, they grieve all aspects of the SHU policies.

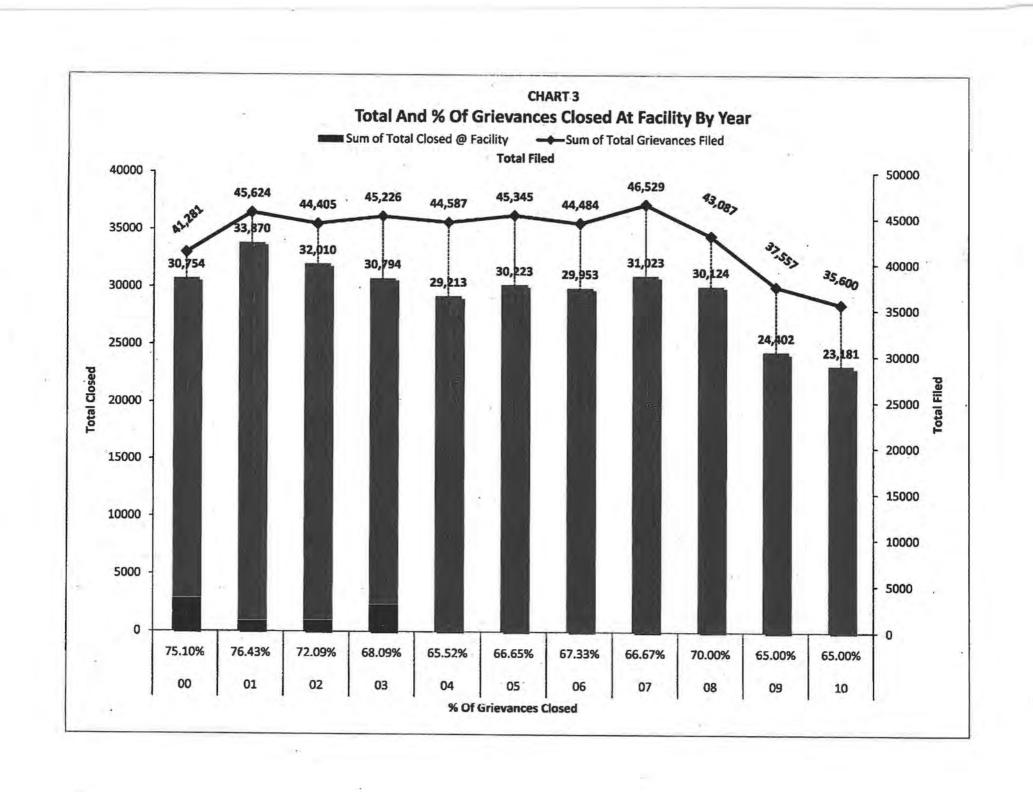

Other issues include smoking, cell cleanup, the Progressive Inmate Movement System (PIMS) level, food and library materials.

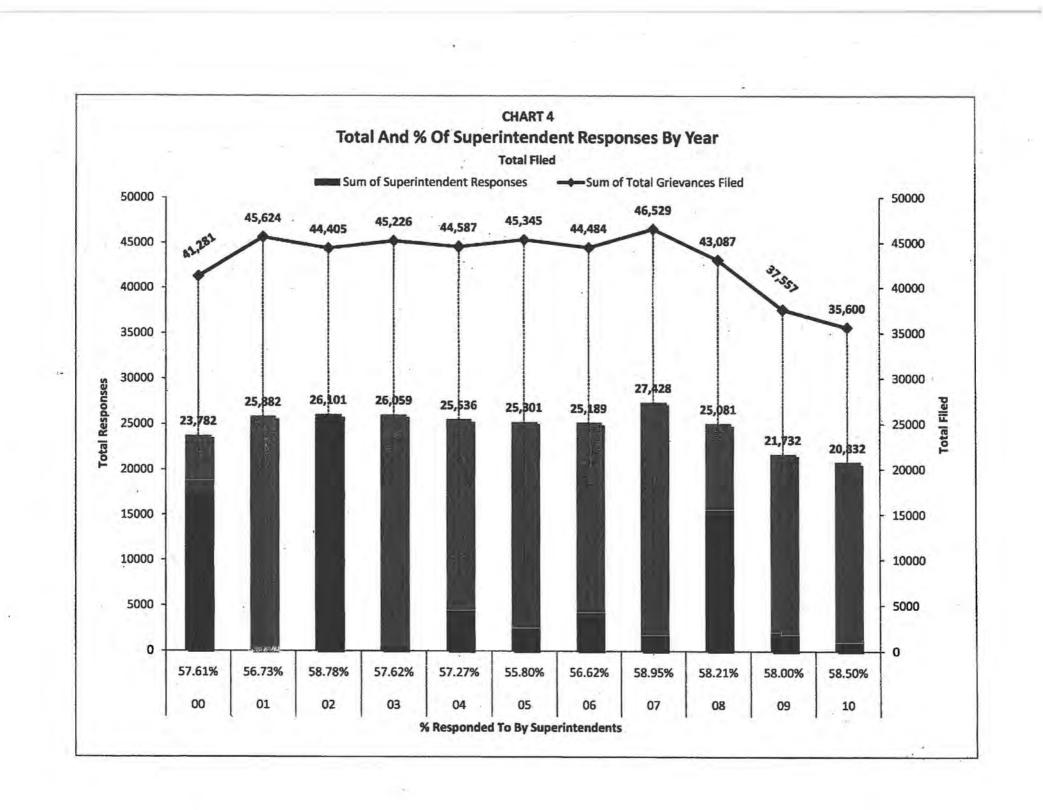

The grievances in this category deal with SHU issues and do not reflect the actual number of grievances filed from SHU.

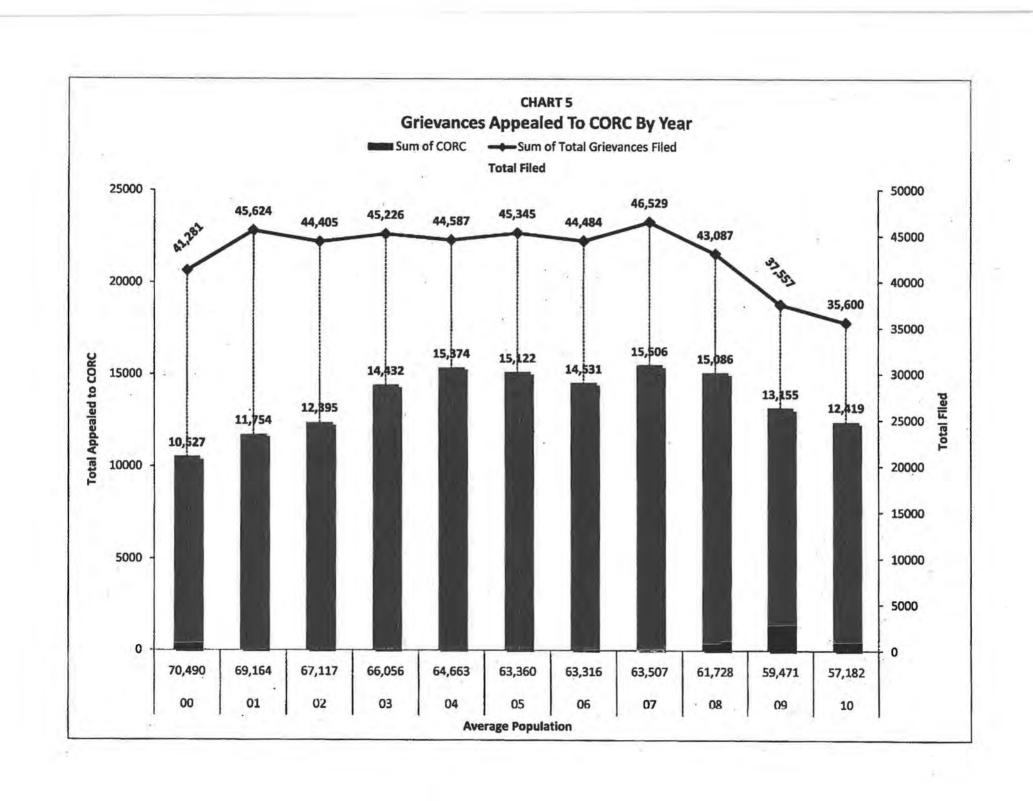

Additionally, Marcy S-Block was closed on 11/9/07 and converted to an Office of Mental Health (OMH) housing and treatment unit.

FACILITY STATISTICAL NARRATIVE

ONEIDA HUB

Camp Georgetown Correctional Facility

There were 27 grievances filed in 2010, an increase from the 18 last year.

Code 22, Medical, had 5 grievances in 2010, an increase from the 1 last year. These grievances concerned doctor appointments and treatment.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 13 grievances in 2010, an increase from the 9 last year. These grievances all alleged verbal harassment.

Hale Creek Correctional Facility

There were 51 grievances filed in 2010, an increase from the 48 last year.

Code 22, Medical, had 18 grievances in 2010, a decrease from the 19 last year. These grievances concerned medications, specialty care, testing, and allegations of negligence.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 20 grievances in 2010, a decrease from the 23 last year. These grievances alleged threats and harassment.

Marcy Correctional Facility

There were 876 grievances filed in 2010, an increase from the 491 last year. The increase in grievances in 2010 is attributed to the opening of the Regional Mental Health Unit (RMHU) on 12/15/09.

Code 22, Medical, had 237 grievances in 2010, an increase from the 154 last year. These grievances concerned requests for a different physician, adequate treatment, outside consultations, testing, medications, bottom bunks and permits.

Code 23, Housing-Internal Block Affairs, had 45 grievances in 2010, an increase from the 16 last year. These grievances concerned RMHU cell items, RMHU policy, general population cube standards, housing supplies and privileges.

Code 31, Rules & Regulations, had 36 grievances in 2010, an increase from the 12 last year. These grievances concerned general population and RMHU policy and enforcement.

Code 37, Mess Hall, had 29 grievances in 2010, an increase from the 12 last year. These grievances concerned special diets, Cold Alternative Diets and portion sizes.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 110 grievances in 2010, an increase from the 73 last year. These grievances alleged physical abuse, harassment and sexual abuse. There were 51 grievances filed from the RMHU.

Mid-State Correctional Facility

There were 310 grievances filed in 2010, a decrease from the 458 last year.

Code 6, Guidance Unit/Counseling, had 19 grievances in 2010, a decrease from the 26 last year. These grievances concerned sex offender programming and program recommendations.

Code 22, Medical, had 105 grievances in 2010, a decrease from the 132 last year. These grievances concerned medications, quality of care, delays in care and untimely responses.

Code 23, Housing-Internal Block Affairs, had 15 grievances in 2010, a decrease from the 28 last year. These grievances concerned untimely mail delivery, cube standards, housing unit repairs, policy and procedure, and missing items from cube searches.

Code 30, Package Room, had 6 grievances in 2010, a decrease from the 18 last year. These grievances were on denial of items.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 68 grievances in 2010, a decrease from the 80 last year. These grievances alleged verbal abuse, threats, racial statements, staff incompetence and physical abuse.

Mohawk Correctional Facility

There were 266 grievances filed in 2010, a decrease from the 332 last year. It is noted that there was a 14% decrease in the inmate population in 2010, resulting in fewer grievances.

Code 22, Medical, had 52 grievances in 2010, a decrease from the 70 last year. These grievances concerned denial of medical treatment, medications, lotions, sanitary practices by medical staff, program limitations, medical privacy and delays in treatment.

Code 23, Housing-Internal Block Affairs, had 9 grievances in 2010, a decrease from the 20 last year. These grievances concerned shower curtains, heat, ice, cabinets, wet towels and hanging pictures.

Code 30, Package Room, had 15 grievances in 2010, an increase from the 13 last year. These grievances concerned lost money orders, food packaging seals, beard trimmers/shavers, dominoes, mouthwash with whiteners and sergeant's review.

Code 42, Inmate Rights, had 11 grievances in 2010, a decrease from the 20 last year. These grievances concerned court orders, UCC policy, name changes, Merit Time and accuracy of records.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 110 grievances in 2010, an increase from the 97 last year. These grievances alleged physical assault, verbal harassment, mistreatment in SHU, sexual harassment, profanity, retaliation and tampering with tier hearing cassette tapes.

Oneida Correctional Facility

There were 229 grievances filed in 2010, a decrease from the 260 last year.

Code 6, Guidance Unit/Counseling, had 14 grievances in 2010, an increase from the 7 last year. These grievances concerned SOCTP and ART policy and procedure.

Code 20, ASAT, had 6 grievances in 2010, a decrease from the 28 last year. These grievances concerned ASAT credit, program need and disputes with staff. The decrease was credited to the implementation of small group therapy sessions which increased communication, and team building activities.

Code 22, Medical, had 30 grievances in 2010, a decrease from the 53 last year. These grievances concerned medical treatment, reasonable accommodations, flat facility, shy bladder, cosmetic surgery, testing, medications, bottom bunks, permits, work restrictions, orthopedic boots and specialists.

Code 23, Housing-Internal Block Affairs, had 15 grievances in 2010, an increase from the 8 last year. These grievances concerned television, telephone, shower, bathroom, cube and dayroom policy.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 47 grievances in 2010, a decrease from the 56 last year. These grievances alleged physical assault, threats, racial slurs, retaliation, verbal abuse, denial of medical treatment, false MBR's, harassment, mail and food tampering, and excessive force.

Summit Shock Correctional Facility

There were 4 grievances filed in 2010, a decrease from the 7 last year.

Code 49, Staff Conduct, had 4 grievances in 2010, a decrease from the 5 last year. These grievances alleged harassment while being escorted to meals.

WATERTOWN HUB

Cape Vincent Correctional Facility
